Vietnam Moratorium Day Starts; Millions Participate

By BOB MONROE
Associated Press Writer
On college campuses and city streets, in churches and commuter terminals, Vietnam Moratorium Day demonstrations got under way early today in protest against the war.

About 25 students gathered in Columbus, Ohio, on the steps of the administration building at Ohio State University in the early morning chill and took turns reading the names of Americans killed in Vietnam.

Overnight vigils were held on several campuses, including Temple University in Philadelphia where 200 students remained sitting at dawn out of 500 who began the demonstration at midnight.

At the University of Miami in Florida, students finished reading a list of names of war dead at 8 a.m. nearly 24 hours after they started. About 100 youths sat on blankets and listened.

Before the day was out, millions of Americans in cities and towns in various parts of the country were expected to take some part in the moratorium's campus rallies, teach-ins, parades, forums, prayer services and similar activities.

Moratorium opponents—led by President Nixon—planned their own observances in support of administration policy. One group—calling itself the Citizens Committee for Peace with Security—took a full page advertisement in the New York Times declaring: "Everyone who wants peace in Vietnam should: Tell it to Hanoi."

The opponents of the demonstration included public officials, veterans' groups and police and firemen's organizations who said the demonstration was not in the national interest.

Those participating in the protest planned a variety of observances including mass rallies, parades, teach-ins, forums, prayers and the reading of the roll of Vietnam dead.

Leaders of the moratorium movement called for a nonviolent disruption of the daily routine. Most law officials did not express great outward concern although some geared up to handle greater traffic.

Opponents planned to emphasize their view by flying flags at full staff and, in some cases, driving with their headlights on.

Because of the time difference, one of the first moratorium observances came in Saigon where a group of 20 American civilians presented a petition at the U.S. Embassy protesting the presence of American troops in Vietnam.

A delegation was received by Ambassador Ellsworth Bunker. They said he "expressed his (Continued on Page 2)

SAIGON (AP) — A few American troops in Vietnam silently protested against the war today, wearing black arm bands while on combat patrol to show sympathy with the Moratorium Day protest in the United States.

Gen. Creighton W. Abrams, commander of U.S. forces Vietnam, said he did not think the protest in the United States would make any difference on the battlefield in Vietnam.

"We've got our job to do here and that's what we're doing," Abrams told newsmen after a delegation from Mississippi presented him a resolution by their legislature supporting American forces in Vietnam.

Associated Press photographer Charles Ryan, on patrol south of Da Nang with a platoon from the U.S. American Division, said about half of the 30 troops were wearing black arm bands.

"I'm wearing it to show that I sympathize with the antiwar demonstration back home," said the platoon leader, 1st Lt. Jesse Rosen of New York City. "It's just my way of silently protesting. Personally, I think the demonstration should go on until President Nixon gets the idea that every American should be pulled out of here now."

Rosen reported that the platoon killed two Viet Cong including a woman armed with a Chinese rifle, and that four of the Americans were wounded by booby traps.

A spokesman for the American Division said the protest was being investigated and he didn't know yet whether any disciplinary action would be taken against Rosen.

President Nguyen Van Thieu said in a statement that the antiwar demonstrations could prolong the war if they encouraged the enemy to wait for more concessions. Some members of the South Vietnamese House of Representatives called for a full-scale legislative debate on the demonstrations.

TWO FOR THE SHOW! — Three to get ready and four to go. Doug (left) and Jeff Lang, twin sons of Mr. and Mrs. Jon Lang, Zanesville, can hardly wait for a visit to the 1969 Pumpkin Show. Mrs. Lang is the former Carol Weiler, Miss Ohio 1959.

Sunny Weather Greeted 63rd Annual Event

"The spirit of the great pumpkin has descended upon Circleville," Mayor Richard Gerhardt said at 2 p.m. today as he officially opened the 63rd annual Pumpkin Show.

In welcoming visitors and residents alike to the gala festival, Mayor Gerhardt promised a bigger, better and more exciting event than ever before.

Sunshine and brisk temperatures greeted the "great pumpkin" and directors of the show braced themselves for another seam-buster.

The weather man is predicting showers by late Thursday, but forecasts of rain seldom deter the giant crowds that attend the event.

ALSO participating in opening ceremonies were Danny Scholl, nationally known entertainer, the Amanda Clearcreek Band and the Rev. John Currens, who delivered the invocation for the event.

The Little Miss Parade was the first big attraction, with the Miss Pumpkin Show parade and contest slated to top the day's events.

The appearance of Emmett Kelly Jr. is one of the added features this year. He is the world's most photographed clown, and is sponsored by Eastman Kodak Co.

Legionnaires served customers Tuesday night from their fish fry booth on N. Court St. With practice out of the way, the cooks are ready to go at the 63rd annual show.

Famed clown Emmett Kelly Jr. will find a likeness of his father and predecessor, Emmett Kelly Sr. on display in the old Third National Bank building during Pumpkin Show. The oil painting was done by Circleville resident and artist, Mrs. V. L. Hawkes who can boast having mutual friends of the Kelly family.

If you were up before breakfast this morning you could have it at the Kiwanis booth where Circleville's once-a-year cooks were out-reasonably bright and very early to serve as they will each morning of the Pumpkin Show.

Arriving from Australia in time for the Pumpkin Show are Mr. and Mrs. Ronald E. Thurston, Kim and Rhonda. They are flying the approximately 10,000 miles with brief stops in Hawaii and Los Angeles, to visit the festival.

The two top holidays of the year are Christmas and Pumpkin Show. At least for Robert Merriman, Bob, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Neil Merriman, a flight instructor at Offutt AFB in Omaha, Neb., wanted Christmas leave to visit his parents. When he was outranked for the leave, he asked for Pumpkin Show. Bob will be shipped compliments of the United States Air Force, to Wright Patterson AFB in 1968.

Dominy, 59, announced last May he would retire from the post he has held the past 10 years.

Armstrong has been rumored for some time as his successor, but sources within the administration and in Congress now say the appointment is virtually certain.

The Bureau of Reclamation is the Interior Department agency responsible for construction of vast irrigation projects, mainly in the western states. But it also has become the home of "Project Skywater," an experimental program in weather modification.

Out of the Interior Department's almost $1.7 billion budget request for fiscal 1970, some Reclamation—second only to the $288 million sought for the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

But Reclamation's budget represented a $38 million cut from the Johnson administration's proposal, and Dominy admitted the prospect of a continued financial squeeze had influenced his decision to bow out.

But Armstrong, contacted early today at his Salt Lake City home, said the budget cutback "makes sense" as part of Nixon's anti-inflation measures.

"Of course I'll support it," he said, "if and when this appointment is made."

Dayton, in time to catch some of Friday's activities.

Pumpkin Orange is the going thing for Pumpkin Show booths this year. PS Inc. has painted its booth that color, along with the Circleville Jaycees, the DeMolay, Bennett's Fish Stand.

Ted Lewis has laryngitis and cannot come to the Circleville Pumpkin Show today. However, he is staying with his brother, Milt Friedman, in Columbus, and will be down Thursday evening to ride in the parade.

Pumpkin Show is the greatest free show on earth. But if you're not careful, you can soon spend a potful on pumpkin pie, pumpkin brittle, pumpkin burgers, pumpkin jack, pumpkin waffles and pumpkin just about everything.

Nixon Sees Good Times
WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon says many of the troubles now plaguing his administration will be over within three years—about the time his present term comes to an end.

"I will say confidently that looking ahead just three years, the war will be over," Nixon said. "It will be over on a basis which will permit lasting peace in the Pacific."

The President also predicted two key domestic problems—inflation and crime—will be brought under control within three years. He spoke to a meeting of directors of the Associated Press Sunday. His text was released by the White House Tuesday.

The country is coming to grips with inflation, Nixon said, "because we went in at the heart of the problem and took our hard knocks now and later this winter so that we could have smoother sailing later."

Crime will go down, he said, "because the Congress has to pass the crime bills. The Congress can be political about everything else, but this is one area they will come up to. Because when it comes to narcotics, organized crime and obscenity and the rest, they will move on."

Lennon Murder Case Closed, Police Decide
LOS ANGELES (AP) — The case of the murder of William Lennon, father of the singing Lennon Sisters, "will be closed," says Police Lt. Charles Rothert.

Chet W.H. Young, 33, a former mental patient sought in the murder of Lennon on the Marina del Rey golf course Aug. 12, was found dead Saturday in the trunk of a car just off a long-raging road 24 miles east of Sonoma.

Tuolumne County investigators said Young had shot himself in the chest with a rifle and that the rifle was the one used to kill Lennon.

In the car was a letter to Peggy Lennon, whom Young had sought to marry in the past, and newspaper and magazine clippings about the sisters and their family.

'Israeli Jets Hit Targets Across Suez
TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli jets attacked Egyptian military targets in raids across the southern half of the Suez Canal today and also struck at Arab guerrilla bases in Jordan, the military command said.

Military spokesmen said the raid into Jordan was in retaliation for a rocket attack by guerrillas two days ago against Israel's potash works at Sodom on the Dead Sea. Two civilians were wounded in the guerrilla shelling.

On the Egyptian front, Israeli warplanes struck near the central part of the Suez Canal, then hammered the southern sector of the waterway. It appeared from an Israeli communiqué that up to 60 miles of the 103-mile canal came under attack.

The Egyptian military command, in a communiqué from Cairo, claimed its anti-aircraft guns and fighter planes drove off the Israeli raiders in both raids.

It was the first Israeli air raid on Egyptian targets since last Sunday. Until then, the Israelis had been making almost daily strikes along the west bank of the canal and the Egyptian coast of the Gulf of Suez.

Israel also announced that its forces exchanged intermittent artillery and mortar fire Tuesday at the southern end of the Great Bitter Lake. The announcement said one Israeli soldier was wounded.

2 Youths Acquitted Of Fairgrounds Arson
BATAVIA, Ohio (AP) — Robert A. Porter and Ted Nagelout, both 19 and from Owensville, were free today following their acquittal in Common Pleas Court Tuesday on charges of aiding and abetting the arson burning of grandstands at the Clermont County Fairgrounds March 9, 1969.

Judge Louis J. Schwartz said he ordered the acquittal because of lack of evidence on the part of the prosecution.

BULLETIN

NAIROBI, Kenya (AP) — Dr. Abdirashid Ali Shermarke, president of the Somali republic was shot dead this afternoon by a man said to be wearing a police uniform.

Radio Mogadishu interrupted its programs to broadcast the news.

The Somali Republic is on the eastern horn of Africa, bordered on the landward sides by Ethiopia and Kenya. It became independent in 1960.

Shermarke had been president since June 1967.

The broadcast announcement said the man accused of the shooting is now under police custody.

Hoss Admits Killing Mother And Daughter
PITTSBURGH (AP) — Stanley B. Hoss Jr., an accused police slayer who a high police source says has admitted killing a young Maryland mother and her daughter, may be temporarily released from prison to help authorities find the bodies.

An Allegheny County Judge Robert Van der Voort, said Tuesday he had been asked by the U.S. attorney's office here to consider a petition to release Hoss from Western State Penitentiary for a trip to Ohio and Kansas.

The disclosure came after a source high in the investigation said Hoss admitted fatally shooting Linda Peugeot, 21, of Cumberland, Md., and later smothering her 2-year-old daughter, Lori Mae.

The source said Hoss told authorities he left the woman's body at a dump in Ohio near the Indiana border and the child's corpse on another dump in Kansas. But the source said the 26-year-old former truck driver from Tarentum, Pa., was uncertain about the dates of the killings and the exact locations of the bodies.

Hoss is charged with kidnapping the young housewife and her daughter during a three-week flight from police that ended with his arrest in Waterford, Iowa, Oct. 4.

Hoss told police after his capture he kidnapped the woman and child Sept. 22 at Cumberland, Md., shopping center, but refused until now to discuss their whereabouts.

Hoss was being sought for the Sept. 19 killing of Joseph Zanello, a Verona, Pa., policeman. Zanello was shot to death eight days after Hoss escaped from the Allegheny County jail while awaiting sentencing on a rape charge.

Armstrong To Head Reclamation Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration soon will announce the appointment of Ellis L. Armstrong as commissioner of reclamation, succeeding Floyd E. Dominy, according to informed sources.

Hoss Admits Killing Mother And Daughter

PITTSBURGH (AP) — Stanley B. Hoss Jr., an accused police slayer who a high police source says has admitted killing a young Maryland mother and her daughter, may be temporarily released from prison to help authorities find the bodies.

An Allegheny County Judge Robert Van der Voort, said Tuesday he had been asked by the U.S. attorney's office here to consider a petition to release Hoss from Western State Penitentiary for a trip to Ohio and Kansas.

The disclosure came after a source high in the investigation said Hoss admitted fatally shooting Linda Peugeot, 21, of Cumberland, Md., and later smothering her 2-year-old daughter, Lori Mae.

The source said Hoss told authorities he left the woman's body at a dump in Ohio near the Indiana border and the child's corpse on another dump in Kansas. But the source said the 26-year-old former truck driver from Tarentum, Pa., was uncertain about the dates of the killings and the exact locations of the bodies.

Hoss is charged with kidnapping the young housewife and her daughter during a three-week flight from police that ended with his arrest in Waterford, Iowa, Oct. 4.

Hoss told police after his capture he kidnapped the woman and child Sept. 22 at Cumberland, Md., shopping center, but refused until now to discuss their whereabouts.

Hoss was being sought for the Sept. 19 killing of Joseph Zanello, a Verona, Pa., policeman. Zanello was shot to death eight days after Hoss escaped from the Allegheny County jail while awaiting sentencing on a rape charge.

Sunny Weather Greet 63rd Annual Event

"The spirit of the great pumpkin has descended upon Circleville," Mayor Richard Gerhardt said at 2 p.m. today as he officially opened the 63rd annual Pumpkin Show.

In welcoming visitors and residents alike to the gala festival, Mayor Gerhardt promised a bigger, better and more exciting event than ever before.

Sunshine and brisk temperatures greeted the "great pumpkin" and directors of the show braced themselves for another scam-buster.

The weather man is predicting showers by late Thursday, but forecasts of rain seldom deter the giant crowds that attend the event.

ALSO participating in opening ceremonies were Danny Scholl, nationally known entertainer, the Amanda Clearcreek Band and the Rev. John Currens, who delivered the invocation for the event.

The Little Miss Parade was the first big attraction, with the Miss Pumpkin Show parade and contest slated to top the day's events.

The appearance of Emmett Kelly Jr. is one of the added features this year. He is the world's most photographed clown, and is sponsored by Eastman Kodak Co.

The Pumpkin Show is a photo buff's paradise with its colorful displays of pumpkin and squash, the lavish floats, smart.

Say Drunks Caused Many Ohio Deaths

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — One-fourth of the fatal accidents last year in Ohio involved a driver who had had a drink. But 51 per cent of the fatal accidents between midnight and 3 a.m. involved a drinking driver.

And, according to a study by the Highway Safety Department, drinkers behind the wheel help make Saturdays the deadliest day of the week on the road.

The department's study was made on rural sections of state highways, the only part of Ohio's vast road network for which complete drinking driver accident reports are available.

But Highway Safety Director Warren C. Nelson believes the figures could apply to all highways in the state.

The study showed 207 drinking drivers were in 840 fatal accidents last year, down from the comparable figures in 1967 of 228 and 891, respectively.

The three deadliest days to drive are Saturday, when there were 197 fatalities, Sunday 141, and Friday 122. Thursday was close behind with 103 followed by Wednesday 99, Tuesday 90 and Monday 88.

City Marshal Is Pardoned In Auto Theft

CARSON CITY, Nev. (AP) — The town marshal of Wilkeson, Wash., received a pardon Tuesday on a 16-year-old conviction of auto theft that he said threatened his job.

Marshal Ray Stephens was in the Army when he stole a car in Las Vegas and drove 70 miles to Mesquite, Nev., where he turned himself in to the sheriff.

He was placed on two years probation and continued in the Army.

He retired from the Army this year as a military police staff sergeant after 21 years of service.

No one asked whether he had a criminal record when he was hired by Wilkeson, a town of 500 near Tacoma, Stephens told the Nevada Board of Pardons.

Plan To Name Agency Chief

Armstrong To Head Reclamation Work

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Nixon administration soon will announce the appointment of Ellis L. Armstrong as commissioner of reclamation, succeeding Floyd E. Dominy, according to informed sources.

Armstrong, 45, has been assistant regional director of the Bureau of Reclamation office in Salt Lake City, Utah, since May 1968.

Dominy, 59, announced last May he would retire from the post he has held the past 10 years.

Armstrong has been rumored for some time as his successor, but sources within the administration and in Congress now say the appointment is virtually certain.

The Bureau of Reclamation is the Interior Department agency responsible for construction of vast irrigation projects, mainly in the western states. But it also has become the home of "Project Skywater," an experimental program in weather modification.

Out of the Interior Department's almost $1.7 billion budget request for fiscal 1970, some reclamation—second only to the $288 million sought for the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

But Reclamation's budget represented a $38 million cut from the Johnson administration's proposal, and Dominy admitted the prospect of a continued financial squeeze had influenced his decision to bow out.

But Armstrong, contacted early today at his Salt Lake City home, said the budget cutback "makes sense" as part of Nixon's anti-inflation measures.

"Of course I'll support it," he said, "if and when this appointment is made."

ly dressed hands and throngs of people.

Today's event is being filmed by the Bob Braun 50-50 Club television show and will be on color tele-cast Channel 4 beginning at 11:30 a.m. tomorrow.

In addition to today's films, the new queen of the event will appear in person on the show tomorrow along with Ned Harden, vice president and chief tub-thumper for the show.

An estimated 300,000 persons will have walked the streets of Circleville by the time the show has run its course, midnight Saturday, PS officials believe.

SWEETS FOR THE SWEET — Judges from Columbia Gas of Ohio and Columbus and Southern Ohio Electric Co. look as good as the cakes they are about to judge in the Baked Goods Department of the Pumpkin Show located in the Armory on E. Franklin St. According to Twyla Leist, department director, this has been an unusually fine year for the Baked Goods exhibit with 419 delicious looking entries.

Mrs. Kirby Drake Captures Honors For Canned Goods

Mrs. Kirby Drake of Route 4, captured the grand prize with a can of red tomatoes in the Canned Goods Department of the Pumpkin Show. Mrs. Frank Woodward, director and Mrs. Garold Crites, assistant, said that Mrs. Drake also won 14 first prizes, 14 seconds and seven thirds for a total of 35 prizes out of her 41 entries. As grand prize winner she was awarded a trophy and $10.

Mrs. Dick Tootle, home economics teacher at Teays Valley was judge in the highly competitive contest.

Senate Approves 'Poor War' Funds For Next 2 Years

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has passed overwhelmingly a two-year $4.78 billion extension of the antipoverty program but left unsettled the status of the controversial Legal Services aid.

In a sharp defeat for the program's backers, the Senate voted 46-40 Tuesday to add a rider to the bill giving governors the absolute right to veto any Legal Services projects.

But then, after the rider's sponsor, Republican Sen. George Murphy had left the chamber to go to California, the bill's managers came up with language which would allow President Nixon to override such vetoes.

Several senators contended Murphy's amendment was being emasculated in his absence.

The managers answered that Murphy should not have left the chamber before work on the legislation was completed, but they pledged they would drop the new language in Senate-House conference if Murphy objected.

The Legal Services lawyers, target of Murphy's amendment, have stepped on the toes of state and local officials in a number of states by filing lawsuits questioning various governmental practices.

Gov. Ronald Reagan in California has criticized their work in behalf of striking grape pickers, among others.

Under present law governors can veto most antipoverty programs in their states, but the Office of Economic Opportunity director can override the vetoes.

The bill to continue the OEO through fiscal 1971 passed the Senate 73-3 and was sent to the House.

Democrats and Republicans on the House Education and Labor Committee have been squabbling over OEO extension for months. There was no estimate on when the committee might act.

OEO already has gone through more than a quarter of the current financial year without knowing what its exact funding will be.

The Senate bill authorizes slightly over $2 billion for the present year, exactly what Nixon asked. The total is $100 million more than was spent last year.

The bill also authorizes $2.73 billion for fiscal 1971, considerably more than the administration has indicated it wants.

Rockets Rip PLO Office

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — Six rockets fired from across the street blasted the Beirut office of the Palestine Liberation Organization today.

A senior PLO official, his clothes stained with blood, blamed "Israeli intelligence" for the attack, which ripped the premises apart.

Seven persons were hospitalized, at least one of them with serious wounds, and several others were slightly injured by splinters and flying glass.

The local PLO director, Shafik Hout, told newsmen he suspected the rocket attack was planned by a man purporting to be a Dutch television journalist who visited the offices four days ago. El Hout was among those slightly injured in the blast.

The unidentified Dutchman also had gone to the apartment across the street from which the rockets were fired claiming that he wanted to take photographs. Rocket launchers were reported found there after today's attack.

Canadian-U.S. Cooperation Said Necessity

MONTREAL (AP) — Canada and the United States must cooperate if the continent's inland waters are to be exploited to their full potential, Robert Stockland, Ohio state senator and chairman of the Great Lakes Commission, said Tuesday.

Stockland said in an interview his interstate commission often looks to Canada for leadership in the field of water erosion and flood control.

He was in Montreal for talks with the Montreal Port Council on this year's high water levels in the St. Lawrence River and the Great Lakes.

The senator also spoke of East Coast "discrimination" against the Great Lakes, such as the slashing of railway freight rates to lure business away from the St. Lawrence Seaway.

Kara began growing early today after ending a drifting maneuver that had stalled its progress toward the mainland, and became a hurricane shortly before dawn.

The National Hurricane Center said top winds were about 75 miles an hour—minimal for a hurricane—but probably would intensify.

Its projected course would take it near Bermuda, but there was no immediate threat to the island.

The Pope summoned the 146 prelates to discuss the concept of collegiality, the sharing of papal authority with bishops. His remarks today were seen by many observers as an indication that the pontiff was remaining flexible on the issue.

The Pope attended the first two working sessions of the synod Monday and Tuesday but remained silent when the bishops spoke. Many strongly criticized his exercise of absolute power and urged him to consult closely with bishops before making crucial decisions.

American Cardinals Terence Cooke of New York City and John Wright, now a member of the Roman Curia, added their voices today to asking for an expansion of "collegial sharing."

PICCA Nurse Resigns Post

Mrs. Anita Hayne has resigned her position with PICCA it was announced today. She has accepted a position with HEW in Columbus in the family planning program.

The vacancy created by Mrs. Hayne's resignation must be filled as quickly as possible, PICCA officials say.

The position calls for a registered nurse. Some experience in public health work would be invaluable. Interviews will be conducted at the PICCA office, 165 E. Main St. in Memorial Hall.

Vietnam . . .

Early observances of the moratorium included a sleep-in by students at Fordham University in New York City and a convocation at North Carolina State University in Raleigh.

More than 2,000 turned out for an orderly candlelight parade on the University of Washington campus Tuesday night. A midnight memorial service for those killed in the war was held at Clemson University in Columbia, S.C.

Opponents of the protest in Columbia planned a late-afternoon parade and rally. The Veterans of Foreign Wars in the state asked citizens to fly the U.S. flag in silent counterreaction to the moratorium.

Clark Kerr, former president of the University of California, was hit in the face with a custard pie as he lectured on "Discontent in Higher Education" at Indiana University on the eve of the moratorium.

Kerr had just told the audience that today's protest could have a major effect if it was conducted without violence. Police arrested a former Indiana graduate student on a charge of assault and battery.

In Cincinnati, 20 members of the Jewish Peace Fellowship marched around the federal building to the sound of traditional rams horns in protest against the war.

A bell at Simpson College in Indianola, Iowa, tolled every second for 39,400 seconds to record the war dead.

David T. Dellinger, one of eight defendants on trial for conspiring to incite a riot in Chicago, told about 475 persons at the University of Notre Dame Tuesday night:

"I welcome the moratorium and I want to be a part of it. I think it's important that there be both protests and continued discussion. The danger I see in the moratorium is that people will get behind the idea of ending the war but have a very fuzzy idea as to why the war should be ended."

Major rallies in support of the moratorium were set in Washington, where 17 senators and 47 congressmen have expressed support for nonviolent demonstrations, and in New York and Boston.

Demonstrations of one sort or another were scheduled in thousands of other communities. A map at the headquarters of the moratorium committee was almost obscured with shiny thumbtacks on the eve of the big day.

Cases Varied In Muny Court

A variety of charges appeared before Judge Lamb in Municipal Court Wednesday.

John Young, 21, 159 E. Logan St., was cited for having loud tail pipes and reckless operation. He received a total of $62 in fines and costs for the two charges with $10 of the fines suspended.

Another Circleville man appeared in court for reckless operation. Tommie Haddock, 18, 327 Barnes Ave., was cited when he pulled in front of a vehicle which struck him in the right front fender. He paid $34 in fines and costs.

A $10 fine was levied against Lloyd Davis, Stoutsville for disorderly conduct.

Larry Graham, 389 Northridge Road, received a suspended $25 fine for keeping a raccoon in captivity.

Robert Lemaster, 31, of 211 1/2 S. Scioto St., forfeited a $19 bond for squealing tires.

A $24 bond for intoxication was forfeited by Allen Davis, of the American Hotel.

Other fines and forfeitures totaled $202.

Car Hits Tree; Driver Arrested

The Pickaway County Sheriff's Department investigated an injury accident Tuesday on State route 316, 500 feet east of Circleville-London-Northern Road.

Terry McCune, 20, Route 1, Williamsport told Deputy Bob Hoover he was traveling east on 316. He lost control of the car, skidded 222 feet, left the road and hit a tree. The car bounced off the tree and hit a parked car belonging to Walter Woods of Orient.

A passenger in the McCune car, Pandora May, Orient, was admitted to Berger Hospital for possible back and hip injuries. McCune was treated and released.

McCune was cited for OMVI and no drivers license. His hearing has been postponed until October 23. He is being held in county jail.

South Vietnam Ambassador Raps Moratorium Program

PRINCETON, N.J. (AP) — South Vietnam's ambassador to the United States said Tuesday night everyone wants the war to end but precipitous actions "could pull the rug out from under our feet without giving us a chance to stand alone."

Ambassador Bui Diem, on the eve of a national moratorium against the war, said "if the moratorium stems from a desire of young people to end the war, there is no argument about it. But I'm afraid that's not the entire story. What I'm afraid of is that by precipitous actions, you could pull the rug out from under our feet without giving us a chance to stand alone."

Diem said "all of us want to see this war end" and his people "know we cannot go on asking the Americans to help us."

But, he declared, "Practically speaking for 20 months we have followed all the moves suggested by the liberal circles in this country. There has been no response from the other side. Now the liberal circles say that we should cease fire, and we don't think that is practical."

He said American and South Vietnamese peace negotiators in Paris are faced with "a stubborn and systematic refusal of the other side to talk with us."

Solon Urges Escalation Of Viet War

WASHINGTON (AP) — Rep. Sam Steiger, R-Ariz., urged congressional support today for a sudden, major escalation of the war in Vietnam as a means of ending it.

"Half-hearted wars are seldom won," Steiger said in a letter addressed to President Nixon. "Tough enemies are seldom convinced by half-hearted efforts that they need to negotiate in good faith."

Steiger said the letter has been signed by 14 other Republican members of Congress, including National Chairman Rogers C. B. Morton of Maryland. He said he is seeking other signatures on the letter, to be sent to Nixon later in this day of anti-war demonstrations.

"We believe this dirty little war with a third-rate power can and must be brought to an honorable end if the United States is ever again to hold up its head in the family of nations," Steiger wrote.

There is an alternative to half-hearted prosecution of the war, it said, "to put it simply, a sudden major escalation of the war with one aim in mind—victory."

The letter urges immediate resumption of the bombing of North Vietnam including river dikes which protect the North's major rice growing areas. It says South Vietnam's rangers should be sent into the North to infiltrate and retaliate with the same guerrilla tactics employed against South Vietnam.

Litter Strike Hits London

LONDON (AP) — Eight hundred striking garbage collectors marched through the litter-strewn streets of central London today as Britain faced more walkouts in the coal mining and motor car industries.

The garbage men called at the houses of Parliament in Westminster to press their demand for a minimum weekly wage of 20 pounds—$48.

The garbage strike is in its third week, some of the strikers have gone back to work but most of London's boroughs are still swamped with uncollected rubbish.

In Scotland more than 3,000 coal miners stopped work in sympathy with 70,000 Yorkshire workers who are demanding a 40-hour work week. The present working day is 8 hours, 35 minutes.

At Ellesmere Port, Cheshire, 5,000 engineers refused to return to work at Vauxhalls, British subsidiary of General Motors.

The plant has been closed four weeks because of a protest by 400 press operators over pay and working conditions.

A THOUGHT FOR TODAY

Presented As A Public Service Every Day By FIRST NATIONAL BANK Circleville

The ambassador addressed about 400 Princeton University students gathered to hear him in the university's Whig Hall. His appearance was sponsored by "undergraduates for a Stable America."

He was introduced by the co-founder of the group, T. Harding Jones, a sophomore from Middletown, Ohio.

Jones said "the reason we are here tonight is to present the view which would not have been expressed otherwise."

The audience gave Diem a standing ovation at the conclusion of his talk.

People Should Insist

The American Institute of Architects, condemning "wild assertions" by the Capitol architect, says the historic west front of the Capitol in Washington is in no imminent danger of collapse and can be restored inexpensively.

The AIA statement came as a rebuttal to backers of a House-approved plan to tear down the old sandstone walls and — at a cost of $45 million — recreate them in marble and granite 83 feet further out.

It has become more apparent that the crumbling west wall was an invention of congressmen who would do anything — even destroy a beautiful historically and sentimentally important landmark — for their own comfort and convenience.

Unfortunately, they have the ear of Capitol architect J. George Stewart, who isn't even an architect.

Surely, no one knows better than America's foremost architects who make up AIA what can be done to restore and protect a building.

The west front is the only remaining original wall that is visible from outside the Capitol. It should be restored to its original strength and beauty if at all possible.

The American people who own it should insist.

The Coming Age Of Plenty

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Stopping off in the Virgin Islands on the way home from the Mont Pelerin Society conference on the economic problems of developing countries held in Venezuela, I was surprised to discover that the desalting unit, which turns sea water into something potable, is already a practicality. The islands have four big plants with a total capacity of five million gallons a day. Moreover, the new hotels are putting in their own smaller units.

So the dread threat of thirst and lack of irrigation water can be eliminated in much of the world that has for centuries been dependent on the uncertain gift of the rain gods. The assurance that fresh water will some day cease to be a great problem lent a cutting edge of reality to Professor Karl Brandt's paper, read to the Mont Pelerin Society, in which the long-term developments that portend a coming era of world plenty were thrown in the teeth of the doomsayers.

Going to the Venezuela conference, I had packed a lugubrious book, Dr. Paul Ehrlich's "The Population Bomb," in my briefcase. Surely the Mont Pelerin economists who were concerned with the developing countries would have a hard time disposing of Dr. Ehrlich's fears that there must soon be too many mouths and not enough food. But Dr. Brandt, an agricultural specialist, struck at the Ehrlich thesis without hesitation.

The desalting plant is the least of the new harbingers of plenty. Speaking of the wide expanse of desert areas that lie far from the sea coasts, Dr. Brandt told of the great venture of geological and hydrological engineers who have shown that the hard silty formations characteristic of desert lands can be broken up by the underground detonation of "clean" plutonium bombs. What results from this is a condition that favors the collection of a vast amount of ground water, which can be pumped from deep wells for irrigation of cotton, alfalfa, corn and other high-yielding food, feed, and fiber crops.

"In the states of Arizona and New Mexico," said Dr. Brandt, "this is already on its way and plans for similar conversion of deserts . . . are well advanced for parts of the Sahara."

The attack on desert lands was possibly Dr. Brandt's most spectacular item. But right behind it comes the story of the use of carbon dioxide gas to create prolific fruit-bearing under controlled conditions. The trick is to surround the foliage of plants with more carbon dioxide than is ordinarily available. "The new discovery," said Dr. Brandt, "could be used . . . only because of another invention of one of the petrochemical industries: water-and-gas-proof cellophane or other plastic sheets. In northern Italy hundreds of thousands of acres were already covered this year with such transparent plastic sheets and inexpensive wooden supporting arches. In this sort of giant glasshouse every sort of winter and early spring vegetables, strawberries, cantaloupes and other melons were thriving jointly with various berry bushes, fruit trees and grapes."

Dr. Brandt's description of the North Italian break-through holds inordinate interest for countries that lack Italy's rainfall. For use of the same plastic sheets which contain carbon dioxide "makes it possible to stop the enormous evapo-transpiration loss of water in semi-arid or arid regions and to use inexpensive sprinkler irrigation with optimal returns."

For the rice-growing countries, Dr. Brandt mentioned the new fast-maturing paddy-rice seeds: for the wheat-dependent western nations, he spoke of the new hybrids of maize, barley, and wheat. As "Mexican wheat" has demonstrated, the yields per acre on upland areas can be vastly increased. According to Dr. Colin Clark, Oxford University's expert on economics and population problems, "Philippine rice and Mexican wheat" have together substituted the spectre of a

Kurfess Hits Fund Spiral

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess wants the legislature to keep its eye on construction projects undertaken by the Ohio Historical Society and the Department of Natural Resources.

The Perryburg Republican warned the Ohio Senate-House Public Improvements Inspection to the historical society in recent sessions have been upward from $20 million for land acquisition and construction.

This amount, he said, far exceeds similar appropriations to the society in past years.

Kurfess suggested the committee check on progress "or in some cases lack of progress" of the society's improvement projects. He referred to the "slow" progress on the Ohio Historical Museum at the Ohio State Fairgrounds and the "erratic and intermittent" restoration of Fort Meigs near his home town of Perryburg as examples.

Kurfess told the committee it should watch the practice of the Natural Resources Department of changing priorities after funds for capital improvements have been appropriated.

High Court Rejects Appeal By Franko

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP) — Without comment, the U.S. Supreme Court has turned down the appeal of former Youngstown mayor Frank R. Franko to be reinstated as an attorney.

Franko was suspended from practicing law in 1957 after he was charged with disregarding Ohio law on minor traffic violations, failing to resign while running for county prosecutor and voiding his own parking tickets—all this while a municipal court judge.

A CONGRESSMAN from the deepest South was aiming both barrels at sex education in the schools recently. "I don't want my twelve-year-old son to hear such filth," he ruminates, "and what's more, I've felt just that way since the day the stork brought him!"

Words of wisdom from Lord Houghton: "A sense of humor is the just balance of all the faculties of men, the best security against the pride of knowledge and the conceits of the imagination, the strongest inducement to submit with a wise and pious patience to the vicissitudes of human existence."

Terrible tempered golf star Tommy Bolt has been known to break as many as six clubs over his knees in a round that is not progressing to his entire satisfaction. Still in contention on the fifteenth fairway in the last round of a big tournament, he stepped up to the ball and asked his caddy, "What number iron do you suggest I use for this shot?" "Either a number two or a number three iron," answered the caddy.

"You must be out of your mind," roared Bolt. "It can't be more than 130 yards to the pin. Why should I use a number two or three iron?"

"Because," said the caddy, "those are the only two irons you have left."

Speaking Of Your Health

By Lester L. Coleman, M.D.

I had just finished a long and intensive examination of a patient who had come to my office because of severe attacks of dizziness. It was obvious that he and his wife, who accompanied him, were extremely distressed.

In order to establish the cause of dizziness, a very detailed history of the condition must be taken by the doctor. It is sometimes difficult for patients to understand why tiny details are necessary. Their wish is to get right on with the examination.

It should be understood that the history of dizziness or any other condition may frequently be more revealing than the examination itself.

So it was with my patient. The routine examination of his hearing, the center of balance and the blood pressure established the fact that the nature of his dizziness was not serious.

The general attitude in modern medicine is to try to offer patients a great deal of assurance, in addition to drug therapy. Fear plays such an important role in all disease that unless it is relieved the physicians job is only partly done.

I pointed out to my patient that further tests would be necessary to discover the cause of his dizziness, even though I was secure in the feeling that his condition was not a severe one.

I felt, too, that I was leaving him with a sense of relief after this, his first visit.

A doctor enjoys the fact that he can establish a relationship with a new patient and send him on his way minus the anxiety that brought him to his office.

It was at this point that I directed a question to the patient's wife and was astonished by the incivility of her answer. It was particularly unexpected because the relationship had seemed to be progressing so well.

Before I could adjust myself to this sudden change in behavior, she said, "Don't mind me, I have a native hostility to doctors. I made no comment, but later wondered what injustice could possibly have been done to this healthy looking, middle-aged woman who bore none of the 'scars' of a doctor's 'mistreatment.'"

It was a disappointing aftermath to the effort of establishing a good relationship

The Business World

By JOHN CUNIFF

NEW YORK (AP) — Over the past decade or more, quietly and perhaps not even consciously, the American public has sought to resolve as perplexing and as fundamentally important an investment issue as any that ever confronted it.

It is this: Should individuals invest directly in the stock market or, instead, should they seek and pay for professional money management, such as offered by mutual funds and bank-administered trusts?

The issue has seldom been very clearly stated. Often it has been shrouded in propaganda, of which glamor has been a chief ingredient. Some professional managers admit to being financial geniuses and feel that no investor should be without their advice.

But is this advice really worth all that is claimed for it? Some mutual fund managers, for example, have proved to be all too human in the present depressed market, admitting publicly that they have made foolish mistakes.

And although most investors are assured by the understatement, the soldness, the tradition of trust companies, often they are unaware that their portfolio might be watched over by a fellow who can't make ends meet.

Nevertheless, the professional money managers must be doing something right—perhaps they are doing a lot right—for throughout the 1960s there has been a steady drain of money from private investors to the money managers.

Reflecting this, assets of mutual funds have risen from about $16 billion in 1959 to more than $50 billion now, and with the big life insurance companies poised to enter the market, this growth is likely to continue.

Does this mean that amateur investors should heed the trend and avoid direct investments? Hardly. A recent report from the National Association of Investment Clubs shows that small investors who take their work seriously can make big profits.

This report shows that the average compounded annual rate of earnings for investment clubs, up to the early part of this year, was 22.4 per cent, or considerably more than advances made in the market as a whole.

Few professionals can do much better than this. Some, of course, can show 100 per cent gains for one year, as was demonstrated a few years ago. But these same managers this year shows big losses.

To demonstrate what 22.4 per cent a year means, the NAIC calculated that if the average club, worth $26,149, were to continue earning at the same rate for 10 years, it would then be worth $190,000—without the addition of new money.

Drugs In Hollywood

By GENE HANDSAKER (For Bob Thomas)

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Most American parents now face the real possibility that their children may get hung up on dope. If the parent happens to be an entertainment star, the chances of that danger may well be increased.

This was underscored recently with the apparent suicide of 20-year-old Diane Linkletter. Her father, television star Art Linkletter, said she plunged six stories to her death while under the influence of LSD.

"It wasn't suicide, because she wasn't herself," Linkletter declared. "She was murdered by the people who manufacture and sell LSD."

Earlier this year, Loren Silliphant, 18-year-old son of screen writer Stirling Silliphant ("In the Heat of the Night"), was shot to death during a gathering in his Sunset Strip apartment by an intruder who demanded narcotics. A bag containing marijuana was found outside the window.

The Hollywood community, with its residential area centered in Beverly Hills, is similar to other centers of affluence in its juvenile problems. It has many directionless young people looking for thrills, and with the money to buy them.

Beverly Hills Police Chief Joseph P. Kimble says: "If there is a higher incidence of dope among juveniles in Beverly Hills, it is not much higher than in similar communities. But there can be no doubt that the problem exists."

Where do youths get dope? "Mostly from other kids," Chief Kimble said. "The hol-low-eyed, furtive, 50-year-old fiend who pushes dope on young people is pretty much a thing of the past."

In other words, a Beverly Hills youth who wanted to experiment with dope would not have much trouble finding it.

"I think this is an accurate statement," the police chief said.

There are indications that the children of the famous may be more susceptible to the use of drugs than others their age. Stars lead busy, self-centered lives that allow little time to listen to children's problems. Multiple marriages leave children to grow up with governesses and step parents and at boarding schools.

Their playground becomes the discotheques of Beverly Hills and hippie land of Sunset Strip. Many become involved with the rock music world, where pot and LSD are a way of life.

All young people face the search for identity, but this quest seems more acute with stars' children. Their parents' fame is constantly a factor to be dealt with.

Art Linkletter touched upon this as he discussed his daughter's problems: "There was always the family name to contend with—you know how hard that can be. You're prejudged by everyone. All my kids have had to adjust to it, having that name riding on top of them."

"Mr. Pumpkin Show" Bob Colville was presented with a pocket watch as a token for his 22 years as treasurer of the Circleville Pumpkin Show in ceremonies when he was honored by the city.

Two five-ton elephants from Mills Brothers Circus took part in the parade prior to presentation ceremonies, the first time elephants had ever appeared in a pumpkin show parade.

Accompanied by their beloved dogs, Johnny Christian and Phyllis Ullman received top honors as the "most typical boy and girl" in the Thursday afternoon pet parade.

A pumpkin farm exhibit by Pickaway Twp. school in the J. C. Penney store window won first prize in the window trimming contest.

The largest pumpkin, weighing 92 pounds, was exhibited by Bill Cook — again.

Mrs. Charles Merriman of E. Mound St. was awarded a Crosley refrigerator donated by Ben H. Gordon Co. when she was named Champion Pumpkin Pie Baker of the 1954 show.

C. Ed Counts of Chillicothe, veteran hog caller with many awards to his credit and Frances Cottrell of Route 2, hollered their way to the top in the annual hog-calling contest.

Mrs. Ida Baughman of 114 Pinckney St. was Grand Champion Cake Baker.

A reunion of the 1899 sixth grade of High St. school was held to coincide with the final night of Pumpkin Show. Class member Sam Gearhart of Fayetteville, Ark., suggested the idea. The group met at the home of class member Wallace Crist, N. Court St. for an informal gathering before dinner.

An egg laying contest was the highlight of the Poultry exhibition.

Tight rope artists and a judo team from Lockbourne Air Base comprised the free acts for show visitors.

A Winner's Parade was held Saturday night of the show.

Two of the largest industrial plants in the area, DuPont and Lincoln Plastics, entered the window trimming contest.

Rules were changed for the Little Miss competition so there would be fewer entries. Only first grade students sponsored by their schools and merchants of Pickaway County kept the total number of entries to 69.

People Should Insist

The American Institute of Architects, condemning "wild assertions" by the Capitol architect, says the historic west front of the Capitol in Washington is in no imminent danger of collapse and can be restored inexpensively.

The AIA statement came as a rebuttal to backers of a House-approved plan to tear down the old sandstone walls and — at a cost of $45 million — recreate them in marble and granite 83 feet further out.

It has become more apparent that the crumbling west wall was an invention of congressmen who would do anything — even destroy a beautiful historically and sentimentally important landmark — for their own comfort and convenience.

Unfortunately, they have the ear of Capitol architect J. George Stewart, who isn't even an architect.

Surely, no one knows better than America's foremost architects who make up AIA what can be done to restore and protect a building.

The west front is the only remaining original wall that is visible from outside the Capitol. It should be restored to its original strength and beauty if at all possible.

The American people who own it should insist.

The Coming Age Of Plenty

By JOHN CHAMBERLAIN

Stopping off in the Virgin Islands on the way home from the Mont Pelerin Society conference on the economic problems of developing countries held in Venezuela, I was surprised to discover that the desalting unit, which turns sea water into something potable, is already a practicality. The islands have four big plants with a total capacity of five million gallons a day. Moreover, the new hotels are putting in their own smaller units.

So the dread threat of thirst and lack of irrigation water can be eliminated in much of the world that has for centuries been dependent on the uncertain gift of the rain gods. The assurance that fresh water will come day after day is a great problem lent a cutting edge of reality to Professor Karl Brandt's paper, read to the Mont Pelerin Society, in which the long-term developments that portend a coming era of world plenty were thrown in the teeth of the doomsayers.

Going to the Venezuela conference, I had packed a lugubrious book, Dr. Paul Ehrlich's "The Population Bomb," in my briefcase. Surely the Mont Pelerin economists who were concerned with the developing countries would have a hard time disposing of Dr. Ehrlich's fears that there must soon be too many mouths and not enough food. But Dr. Brandt, an agricultural specialist, struck at the Ehrlich thesis without hesitation.

The desalting plant is the least of the new harbingers of plenty. Speaking of the wide expanse of desert areas that lie far from the sea coasts, Dr. Brandt told of the great venture of geological and hydrological engineers who have shown that the hard siltrock formations characteristic of desert lands can be broken up by the underground detonation of "clean" plutonium bombs. What results from this is a condition that favors the collection of a vast amount of ground water, which can be pumped from deep wells for irrigation of cotton, alfalfa, corn and other high-yielding food, feed, and fiber crops.

"In the states of Arizona and New Mexico," said Dr. Brandt, "this is already on its way and plans for similar conversion of deserts . . . are well advanced for parts of the Sahara."

The attack on desert lands was possibly Dr. Brandt's most spectacular item. But right behind it comes the story of the use of carbon dioxide gas to create prolific fruit-bearing under controlled conditions. The trick is to surround the foliage of plants with more carbon dioxide than is ordinarily available. "The new discovery," said Dr. Brandt, "could be used . . . only because of another invention of one of the petrochemical industries: water-and-gas-proof cellophane or other plastic sheets. In northern Italy hundreds of thousands of acres were already covered this year with such transparent plastic sheets and inexpensive wooden supporting arches. In this sort of giant glasshouse every sort of winter and early spring vegetables, strawberries, cantaloupes and other melons were thriving jointly with various berry bushes, fruit trees and grapes."

Dr. Brandt's description of the North Italian break-through holds inordinate interest for countries that lack Italy's rainfall. For use of the same plastic sheets which contain carbon dioxide "makes it possible to stop the enormous evapo-transpiration loss of water in semi-arid or arid regions and to use inexpensive sprinkler irrigation with optimal returns."

For the rice-growing countries, Dr. Brandt mentioned the new fast-maturing paddy-rice seeds: for the wheat-dependent western nations, he spoke of the new hybrids of maize, barley, and wheat. As "Mexican wheat" has demonstrated, the yields per acre on upland areas can be vastly increased. According to Dr. Colin Clark, Oxford University's expert on economics and population problems, "Philippine rice and Mexican wheat" have together substituted the spectre of a world agricultural glut for the older menace of world starvation.

Coming from California, where he had taught at Stanford until his recent retirement, Dr. Brandt is especially convincing when he talks about the intensive use of mountain-girt areas for crop diversification. With 80,000 farms and fifty million acres under cultivation, Californians get a cash income from crops of 3.9 billion dollars a year. Texas, with 205,000 farms and forty percent more land than California, grosses only 2.6 billion dollars from its crops. It was Californians that pioneered what Dr. Brandt describes as the "repeated machine harvesting of only ripe tomatoes by use of electronic color screens."

You can't beat ingenious men. But the developing countries have yet to learn that governments must give the ingenious man a little free scope.

Kurfess Hits Fund Spiral

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess wants the legislature to keep its eye on construction projects undertaken by the Ohio Historical Society and the Department of Natural Resources. The Perrysburg Republican warned the Ohio Senate-House Public Improvements Inspection to the historical society in recent sessions have been upward from $20 million for land acquisition and construction.

This amount, he said, far exceeds similar appropriations to the society in past years.

Kurfess suggested the committee check on progress "or in some cases lack of progress" of the society's improvement projects. He referred to the "slow" progress on the Ohio Historical Museum at the Ohio State Fairgrounds and the "erratic and intermittent" restoration of Fort Meigs near his home town of Perrysburg as examples.

Kurfess told the committee it should watch the practice of the Natural Resources Department of changing priorities after funds for capital improvements have been appropriated.

It was a disappointing aftermath to the effort of establishing a good relationship with a patient. I have given a great deal of thought to the expressed and unexpressed hostility that sometimes exists in patients. Some patients may have justification. The hostility of others may be unrealistic.

It is my belief that when there is confusion, doubt, a need for more answers, or a desire for further consultation, the patient should openly express himself. Unless this is done, subtle hostility may develop and explode, as it did in my office, directed at somebody else.

The single most common force that is destructive to the splendid relationship between doctor and patient is the question of fees. If fees are established in advance, much of this hostility can be avoided.

Art Linkletter touched upon this as he discussed his daughter's problems: "There was always the family name to contend with—you know how hard that can be. You're prejudged by everyone. All my kids have had to adjust to it, having that name riding on top of them."

OCTOBER, 1954
15 YEARS AGO

Judy Walters of Jackson Twp. school reigned as 1954 queen with attendants Wanda Maxson, Salterree Twp. and Alice Rice of Monroe Twp. school.

Little Miss was 6-year-old Shauna Humphrey representing Pickaway Twp. school. Attendees were Melanie Teets and Rebecca Alkire.

"Mr. Pumpkin Show" Bob Colville was presented with a pocket watch as a token for his 22 years as treasurer of the Circleville Pumpkin Show in ceremonies when he was honored by the city.

Two five-ton elephants from Mills Brothers Circus took part in the parade prior to presentation ceremonies, the first time elephants had ever appeared in a pumpkin show parade.

Accompanied by their beloved dogs, Johnny Christian and Phyllis Ullman received top honors as the 'most typical boy and girl' in the Thursday afternoon pet parade.

A pumpkin farm exhibit by Pickaway Twp. school in the J. C. Penney store window won first prize in the window trimming contest.

The largest pumpkin, weighing 92 pounds, was exhibited by Bill Cook — again.

Mrs. Charles Merriman of E. Mound St. was awarded a Crosley refrigerator donated by Ben H. Gordon Co. when she was named Champion Pumpkin Pie Baker of the 1954 show.

C. Ed Counts of Chillicothe, veteran hog caller with many awards to his credit and Frances Cottrell of Route 2, bolstered their way to the top in the annual hog-calling contest.

Mrs. Ida Baughman of 114 Pinckney St. was Grand Champion Cake Baker.

A reunion of the 1899 sixth grade of High St. school was held to coincide with the final night of Pumpkin Show. Class member Sam Gearhart of Fayetteville, Ark., suggested the idea. The group met at the home of class member Wallace Crist, N. Court St. for an informal gathering before dinner.

An egg laying contest was the highlight of the Poultry exhibition.

Tight rope artists and a judo team from Lockbourne Air Base comprised the free acts for show visitors.

A Winner's Parade was held Saturday night of the show.

Two of the largest industrial plants in the area, DuPont and Lincoln Plastics, entered the window trimming contest.

Rules were changed for the Little Miss competition so there would be fewer entries. Only first grade students sponsored by their schools and merchants of Pickaway County kept the total number of entries to 69.

Throckmorton-Robison Nuptial Vows Repeated

MR. AND MRS. HARRY M. ROBISON

By candlelight Miss Sandra Lynn Throckmorton and Harry M. Robison were united in marriage in the Tabernacle Baptist Church of Chillicothe. The double ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Arthur J. Eddy 7:30 p.m. Sept. 5, for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Willard Throckmorton of Pleasant Valley, Chillicothe, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Marlin Robison of Kingston. Mrs. John Shawkey was organist and Mrs. Gary Ost, soloist.

Escorted to the altar and given in marriage by her father, the bride selected for her marriage a white Chantilly lace floor length gown in the colonial style. The molded bodice featured a sabrina neckline with long fingertip sleeves enhanced with iridescent and seed pearl trim. The bouffant skirt was tier upon tier of lace ruffles with a chapel length train flowing from the waist.

The bride's bouffant veil of illusion falling to fingertip length was caught to a crown of pearls and crystals. She carried a colonial arrangement of yellow and white roses with satin streamers tied in lover's knots.

Mrs. Robert Tennant served as matron of honor in a floor length gown of lime green and white floral Hawaiian print with a square neckline, small puff sleeves and a matching bow accenting the low cut-back. Her headpiece was a bow of matching material with a brief veil. She carried a basket of yellow daisies and pompon chrysanthemums.

Bridesmatron was Mrs. Charles Moody, sister of the bride, Miss Debbie Davis, Miss Linda Moats and Miss Kathy Buskirt were bridesmaids. Their gowns were styled as the matron of honor's in golden orange and they carried baskets of bronze pompon chrysanthemums. Miss Faith Hardesty presided at the guest book.

Mike Neal of Circleville, performed the duties of best man. Ushers were Bruce Throckmorton, brother of the bride; Charles Moody, Robert Perkins and Ernest Evans.

A reception in the fellowship hall of the church immediately followed the ceremony. Hostesses were Mrs. Robert Bucy, Mrs. Marshall Baum, Mrs. William Shanks, Mrs. Gerald Ater, Mrs. Carl Blevins and Mrs. Ost.

Following a wedding trip to Sandusky the couple now resides at 910 High St., Chillicothe.

The new Mrs. Robison is a graduate of Unioto High School and is employed at the Ross County Library. Mr. Robison graduated from Logan Elm High School and is employed by the Moody Trucking Co.

Former Full-Fledged Hippie Couple Kicks The Habit

CORONA DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Jim and Nia Lockway, once full-fledged hippies, say they have kicked the drugs and other trappings and made it back to the straight world.

"We've found something better," Nia said, meaning religion.

"The hippie," her husband declared, "is just as hypocritical as the people he criticizes. Materialism is as bad in the hippie movement as it is elsewhere.

"The hippie talks about love, but he doesn't mean it or practice it in the Biblical sense. It is mostly sex—in fact, sex worship."

The Lockways, said Jim, were hippies "the full route."

He had long hair and a beard. They used the hippie drugs, wore the hippie love beads, and dressed in hippie attire.

Last year they decided to drop out of the hippie world. Kicking drugs was toughest.

Lockway, 25, says he used LSD and methedrine, which hippies call "speed." Nia, 20, says she smoked marijuana.

Both quit. They cut their hair. Nia stopped wearing yellow-tinted glasses with gold rims. Lockway traded his jersey with barber-pole stripes for a white shirt and tie.

He quit drawing advertisements for an underground newspaper and put his talents to work for an architect. And he started a window washing business on the side.

Lockway told Hubbard Keavy of the Laguna Beach News-Post in an interview that he became a hippie after graduating from high school in 1962 "because there was so much lack of concern by others for young people."

When you are stewing chicken, add a small onion studded with a few whole cloves.

Former Full-Fledged Hippie Couple Kicks The Habit

CORONA DEL MAR, Calif. (AP) — Jim and Nia Lockway, once full-fledged hippies, say they have kicked the drugs and other trappings and made it back to the straight world.

"We've found something better," Nia said, meaning religion.

"The hippie," her husband declared, "is just as hypocritical as the people he criticizes. Materialism is as bad in the hippie movement as it is elsewhere."

The hippie talks about love, but he doesn't mean it or practice it in the Biblical sense. It is mostly sex—in fact, sex worship."

The Lockways, said Jim, were hippies "the full route."

He had long hair and a beard. They used the hippie drugs, wore the hippie love beads, and dressed in hippie attire.

Last year they decided to drop out of the hippie world. Kicking drugs was toughest.

Lockway, 25, says he used LSD and methedrine, which hippies call "speed." Nia, 20, says she smoked marijuana.

Both quit. They cut their hair. Nia stopped wearing yellow-tinted glasses with gold rims. Lockway traded his jersey with barber-pole stripes for a white shirt and tie.

He quit drawing advertisements for an underground newspaper and put his talents to work for an architect. And he started a window washing business on the side.

Lockway told Hubbard Keavy of the Laguna Beach News-Post in an interview that he became a hippie after graduating from high school in 1962 "because there was so much lack of concern by others for young people."

Two LE Girls To Compete At Pumpkin Show

This year's Miss Logan Elm Junior candidate for Miss Pumpkin Show is Suzie Hildenbrand, who resides with her mother, Mrs. Bonnie Hildenbrand on Route 1, Circleville. The pert brown eyed, brown haired, sixteen year old is enrolled in the business course.

SUZIE HILDENBRAND

Suzie is active in GAA, FHA, Tri-Hi-Y, The Farm Bureau Youth Council, Student Council and a member of the bowling league. She enjoys swimming and dancing. Among her dislikes are tests and stuck-up people.

MARTHA HINTON

Martha Hinton, the Miss Logan Elm Senior candidate, resides in Tarlton with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hinton. This green eyed, golden-brown haired beauty is head majorette of the band, and she is also active in GAA and NHS.

She likes Saturday nights and dislikes creative writing. When asked how she felt about being selected Miss Logan Elm Senior, she replied, "I didn't think I was going to get it and I really don't know what to say."

The Logan Elm student body and faculty wish Suzie and Martha the best of luck. We know you will represent Logan Elm well.

Beaudette Is New Brave At Logan Elm

JOHN BEAUDETTE

He is a member of the football team, playing the position of tackle and recently was elected treasurer of the senior class. Among John's activities are swimming, shooting pool and motorcycle riding. After graduation, he would like to attend Ohio State University.

John says he likes Logan Elm very much, especially the students because they are so friendly.

Philippines Seek Return Of Bases

MANILA (AP) — The Philippine government asked the United States Tuesday for immediate negotiations to revise the agreement allowing U. S. bases in the Philippines.

It was the Manila government's third note to the U.S. Embassy as a result of the acquittal last month in a U.S. Navy court-martial of a petty officer who killed a Filipino laborer at Subic Bay Naval Base.

Three Westfall Science Students Attend Confab

Three Westfall students were selected to participate in the fourth annual Youth and Science program at The Ohio State University, Sept. 20, hosted by Landmark.

The conference, The Green Revolution, was designed to enlighten Ohio's high-ability high school students regarding science in food and fiber industry. The conference attracted some 2,000 outstanding students from every section of Ohio.

The program offered a distinguished group of scientists who discussed areas of deepest significance of our growing need in food and fiber production.

The key speaker was Dr. A. B. Park who is the United States Dept. of Agriculture Technical Advisor for NASA. Other scientists and their topics were: Trevor G. Arstott, "The Case of the Vanishing K"; Gordon E. Gatherum, "Forest Biology Research; Science or Smokey the Bear"; David E. Hahn, "Food and Fiber in the Year 2000"; D. G. Vakalevis, "The Dynamics of Creating New Foods"; James L. Pouss, "Automatic Guidance with the Laser Beam" and William J. Tynick, "Must Men Starve." The program offered a very valuable experience for those students.

Mrs. Rittinger Takes Post As New Study Hall Monitor

What does a housewife with a set of twins do when she is compelled to baby-sit all day with roughly 250 wretched underclassmen? Mrs. Rittinger has yet to find a dull moment while chasing down an unmanageable student who somehow has managed to invade the confining imprisonment known as study hall.

MRS. RITTINGER

Time was, in the glorious days when Atlanta (now Westfall) flourished, when Mrs. Rittinger herself, was a student sitting in a study hall! But instead of trying to escape exasperated guidance counselors, harassed principals and anguished teachers, she spent her time studying so that she could be worthy of being valedictorian of her class. This must have been what she had in mind when she took the job as study hall monitor.

When Mrs. Rittinger isn't being tormented by LEHS students, she soothes her nerves by working in the Hospital Guild or by simply cooking her husband's favorite dishes. She is not all work, but enjoys outside recreation such as volleyball and baseball. Even though the students are sometimes uncooperative, she admits that she enjoys LE and its students.

Only female mosquitoes bite. The male of most species is, as an entomologist put it, "an inoffensive little insect whose diet is nectar and about whose only function is propagation."

Westfall FHA Attends Meet

Six Westfall High School Future Homemakers of America officers attended an FHA sub-regional meeting at Hilliard High School, Sept. 27.

Representing part of Pickaway County FHA were Cathy Miller, Westfall chapter president; Jill Kahler; Cindy McKay; Denise Rhinesmith; Brenda Reid and Linda Mace. Accompanying the girls was Mrs. Roger Patterson, Westfall home economics teacher and one of the chapter's advisors.

FHA's state theme for 1969-70 is "Know, Care and Do -- The World Awaits You." Regional organization business, state projects and chapter program ideas discussed at the meeting introduced the Westfall girls to the year's program.

Two LE Clubs Elect Officers

LOGAN ELM TRI-HI-Y

Officers for the Tri-Hi-Y were elected late last spring. Chosen were adviser, Mrs. Nagy; president, Beth Rooker; vice president, Ruth Crist; secretary, Roxanne Swank; treasurer, Theresa Quincel; news reporter, Susan List; chaplain, Jody Ferguson; student council representative, Rose Brevard and alternate, Brenda Buskirk.

Plans are under way for the coming year and it should be a very successful club.

GAA News

The Logan Elm GAA officers have been elected for this year. They are as follows: president, Lynette Justice; vice presidents, Vicki Fraunfelter and Connie Skinner; secretary, Rose Brevard and Becky Henn; treasurer, Patty Law; news reporter, Twana Moats; student council representative, Wanda Dunkle and alternate, Jody Ferguson.

The officers have started their work already by making future plans at a picnic at Ted Lewis Park last Monday. Also, the vice presidents are setting up the calendar and the representatives are collecting dues. Many good ideas have been given for projects and we are all sure that this year is going to be a great one for the GAA.

Deputies Nab Man Wanted For Murder

WASHINGTON COURT HOUSE, Ohio (AP)—Acting on a tip from Louisville authorities, sheriff's deputies arrested a Kentucky man at a service station Tuesday night and found a body in a car he was driving.

Three deputies and a highway patrolman closed in on Thomas W. Haralson, 26, at a restaurant in the service station and took him into custody without incident.

Haralson, of Louisville, was being held at the Fayette County jail here pending arrival of Kentucky authorities.

According to deputies, the body of Samuel E. Wilson, 43, also of Louisville, was found in the trunk of the car. The car was owned by Wilson.

Coroner Ralph Gebhart said Wilson had been shot twice in the head with a .22 caliber pistol.

A .22 caliber pistol and a .32 caliber revolver were recovered from the car.

Deputies and a highway patrolman converged onto the service station along Interstate 71 after being tipped by Jefferson County police in Louisville that Haralson was in the area.

Levitt Is Named To Control Board

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — House Speaker Charles F. Kurfess has named Rep. Robert F. Levitt, a Canton Republican, to serve on the State Controlling Board until the end of the year.

Levitt, appointed Tuesday, is majority floor leader of the House, vice chairman of the Rules Committee and a member of the Finance-Appropriations Committee.

Justice, Evans Spotlighted By News Staff

Students of the month for September are Lynette Justice and Roger Evans, both seniors this year.

LYNETTE JUSTICE

Lynette resides with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Justice of Whisler. Some of her likes are: books, sleeping and water skiing. Her only dislikes are tests and stuck-up people. Lynette is enrolled in the college prep. course, is a member of the National Honor Society, Skanda staff, president of G.A.A. and president of the Logan Elm Library Association. Her reaction to the news was that she was very surprised and happy.

Lynette was recently honored for high performance in the 1969 National Merit Scholarship Qualifying Test. She is among 39,000 students in the United States who scored in the upper 2 percent of those who are expected to graduate from high school in 1970.

ROGER EVANS

Roger lives at Route 4, with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Evans. Roger said that he liked football, girls and studying most of all, and the only thing which he doesn't like is stuck-up people. He is enrolled in the general course, is president of the Student Council, member of the Pep Club, a Junior Leader and plays tackle on the football team. Roger was also surprised when he heard the news that he was chosen as one of the students of the month.

Congratulations to both Lynette and Roger from everyone here at Logan Elm.

GE Union Nixes Contract Package

CINCINNATI (AP) — Two unions, representing 5,000 workers at the General Electric Co. Evendale jet engine plant have rejected a three-year contract package offered by the company.

The United Auto Workers, with 4,500 members, turned down the offer Monday. The machinists union, with 1,500 members, called it "totally inadequate" Friday.

Foreign Commentators See End Of Confidence In Nixon

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS LONDON (AP) — Collapse of confidence, multiplying blunders, cracks in the climate of consensus—these are terms newspapers in Britain, France and Italy used this past week to describe President Nixon and the mounting problems his administration is facing.

Writing in the Times of London, Louis Heren, the paper's Washington correspondent, said Nixon's first nine months in office were relaxed. "He did little or nothing to reduce or ease many problems, presumably because he thought the country wanted a conservative and inactive President," Heren said.

The dispatch continued: "He has obviously enjoyed the presidency but, it would appear, more as a reward for years of political service than as an opportunity to lead... He seems to see himself as a constitutional monarch. The long vacations at San Clemente, Calif., and Key Biscayne, Fla., are reminiscent of British 'royal visits' to country estates.

Green Beret To Quit Service

WASHINGTON (AP) — Capt. Robert F. Marasco, once accused by the Army of killing a South Vietnamese double agent, is quitting the Army, the Pentagon announced Tuesday.

Marasco, one of eight Green Berets originally involved in the controversial case, will be released from the Army at his request by the end of this month, a spokesman said.

Marasco applied for "immediate release from active duty" last Wednesday.

The Bloomfield, N.J., man will receive an honorable discharge.

Although admitting that it was possible to be unfair to Nixon because many of his problems—the war, racial conflict, inflation—are inherited, Heren concluded that Nixon "must try to carry as many groups as possible and in the process influence and improve their frequently uninformed or prejudiced views. That is what presidential leadership is all about. Nobody else can do it, and the collapse of confidence in Mr. Nixon suggests that many Americans believe he is incapable of it."

The French newspaper Le Monde said, "Nixon is fascinated by immobility (and) is losing a large part of his most precious capital: confidence. Many Americans are making a tally of his first nine months in office; they are finding it negative."

Milan's Corriere Della Sera said, "This October has shown the first serious cracks of confidence in the climate of consensus which accompanied Nixon's election, and the paper wondered whether this signaled 'the beginning of bigger storms' for Nixon."

Appalachia Loan Slated For Dover

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The Appalachian Regional Commission in Washington has approved a $48,240 federal loan to cover 80 per cent of planning costs for a $1.5 million low and moderate income housing project in Dover.

The funds were awarded to Dover Housing, Inc., a non-profit corporation sponsoring the project. Fifty of the apartments and townhouses will be built at the eastern edge of Dover. The other 50 units will be located on an Urban Renewal area next to the Dover central business district.

Rock Cornish Hens — Virginia Style

Wash thawed hens and pat dry. Rub inside and out with Food Club Salt. Add nutmeg and poultry seasoning to softened Gaylord Butter or Food Club Margarine and spread liberally on hens. Arrange hens in roaster or 9 x 12 inch cake pan. Pour peach syrup over hens. Roast, uncovered, approximately 1 hour in moderate oven (350 degrees), basting occasionally with drippings. About 10 minutes before hens are done, arrange peach halves around the hens, pour corn syrup over peaches, and sprinkle peaches with cinnamon as desired. Return to oven for 10 minutes. Yields 4-6 individual servings.

Dear Abby:

Early Start Can Lead To 'Early Finish'

DEAR ABBY: Your answer to the lady who wanted to breastfeed her about-to-be adopted baby saddened me, although it did not surprise me. You are hardly to be blamed when the majority of the medical men in the country, including obstetricians and pediatricians would also pooh pooh the idea.

Knowledge of the physiology of lactation and the factors which induce it are woefully lacking in the American medical education of today.

There are "primitive societies" (civilization's arrogant adjective for peoples living more naturally than we do) who very often use the services of other women than a baby's natural mother to breastfeed a baby. In some groups, grandmothers, long past their reproductive years, will successfully suckle infants.

The La Leche league is far more sophisticated in its knowledge of nursing than the medical profession. More power to your correspondent. I applaud her maternal instinct and hope she makes the attempt to breastfeed her adopted child. It can be done.

MRS. L. Mc: ALBANY, N.Y.
DEAR ABBY: I have had five children, and I nursed only the first one, and that was enough for me!

It wasn't my idea. It was my mother-in-law's. She convinced me that it was a "sin" to put my baby on the bottle, so I went along with her theory to keep peace in the family as we were living with her at the time. I finally had to quit when my 22-month-old "baby" cut a full set of teeth on me.

"MOTHER OF FIVE," EL CENTRO, CAL.
DEAR ABBY: Please tell that mother-to-be who is so eager to breastfeed her baby that if she's going to all that trouble because she thinks it will be better for the baby, she shouldn't kid herself.

I have had four children. I bottle fed the first two and breastfed the last two. All four are equally healthy. It made no difference in their teeth. In fact, the only child who did NOT have to wear bands on his teeth happened to be a bottle baby.

Also, my two breastfed children did not enjoy any "closer" relationships with me than the bottle-fed children.

What a baby needs more than anything else is LOVE, and they all got plenty of that.
TWO OF EACH: VALDOSTA, GA.

DEAR ABBY: From my own personal experience, I can say that bottle babies are healthier. I nursed my first baby and had nothing but trouble. When I was nervous and fretful, my baby would become nervous and fretful. Every little emotional upset would promptly be transmitted to my baby through my milk. Also breastfeeding seemed to drain me of all my energy.

My next three babies went on the bottle immediately, and they were healthier in every way than my first one. And I had a lot more pep, too.

MRS. G., ORANGEBURG, S.C.
DEAR ABBY: I nursed my adopted baby! It took a lot of patience on my part, but it was well worth the effort. I'm glad I didn't take my doctor's word for it when he told me to "forget it."

I can thank the La Leche League!

MRS. P.B.: L. A. CAL.

Governor Attends

Jackson Opening

JACKSON, Ohio (AP) — Gov. James A. Rhodes was on hand here Tuesday at ceremonies opening the $1.2 million expansion project at Goodyear Aerospace Corp.'s plastics plant here.

The 60,000 square-foot expansion doubled Goodyear's production capacity and added about 150 jobs.

The 6.3 mill operating levy that will be placed on the Nov. 4 ballot.

The Curtain Callers under the direction of William Dunkle, presented several skits.

The door prize was won by Eric Hart. The attendance banner was won by the fifth grade for having the most parents present. Refreshments of punch and cookies were served after the meeting.

Cub Scout Pack 170 presented the opening ceremony. Mark Beck, Tim Housh, Rusty Salyers, Larry Pontious and Randy Salyers were the scouts.

W. K. Smith Transferred To Iowa Plant

WAYNE K. SMITH

The transfer of Wayne K. Smith to DuPont's film plant in Clinton, Iowa, from Circleville has recently been announced by the local facility.

A graduate of the University of Michigan with a BS degree in industrial engineering, Smith came with the company in Circleville in February, 1960 as an engineer in the method's section. He later served as shift supervisor in manufacturing, supervisor in the accounting section and assistant department supervisor in Mylar manufacturing.

While here, he and his wife Noreen and two children, resided on Route 3. They attended First Presbyterian Church, where he was a past deacon, served on church boards and as stewardship chairman.

Smith has also served as assistant district commissioner for the local boy scout unit.

Five Points News

By Mrs. Francis Furniss

There were 63 present at the United Methodist Sunday School Sunday morning. Worship service followed with Mr. Richard Everman as lay leader. The annual Turkey supper sponsored by the WSCS will be held Oct. 25. Serving 5-8 p.m.

Twenty-one members and guests of the Monrovia Garden Club enjoyed a tour of German Village in Columbus Tuesday, Oct. 7. They visited many places of interest including the museum where they viewed slides taken before the restoration and after, the candle shop, ice cream parlor, Mexican Shop, St. Mary's Church, and the Old World Bazaar. They had lunch at Schmidt's Sausage Haus and Restaurant. Those making the trip were Mrs. Joe Sheets, Mrs. Loring Stoe, Mrs. Herman Porter, Mrs. Clyde Michel, Mrs. Arthur Dick, Mrs. Ray Harden, Mrs. Bruce Cochran, Mrs. Charles Fleming, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Russell Beckett, Mrs. Georgia Dick, Mrs. Clarence Thomas, Mrs. Laura Henry, Mrs. Ned Long, Mrs. Clark McCafferty, Miss Sarahie Grabill, Mrs. Myron Hudson, Mrs. Guy Gulick, Mrs. Rachel Call, Mrs. George Kern, and Mrs. Beavers. After lunch they went on a walking tour and viewed the many lovely old homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbee Jones were hosts to the members of Monroe Township Advisory Council No. 10 when they met Wednesday evening for their October meeting. Mr. Jones opened the meeting and Dale Stubbs presented the topic, "Our Credit Problems" which was read and discussed. Five Points News

By Mrs. Francis Furniss

There were 63 present at the United Methodist Sunday School Sunday morning. Worship service followed with Mr. Richard Everman as lay leader. The annual Turkey supper sponsored by the WSCS will be held Oct. 25. Serving 5-8 p.m.

Twenty-one members and guests of the Monrovia Garden Club enjoyed a tour of German Village in Columbus Tuesday, Oct. 7. They visited many places of interest including the museum where they viewed slides taken before the restoration and after, the candle shop, ice cream parlor, Mexican Shop, St. Mary's Church, and the Old World Bazaar. They had lunch at Schmidt's Sausage Haus and Restaurant. Those making the trip were Mrs. Joe Sheets, Mrs. Loring Stier, Mrs. Herman Porter, Mrs. Clyde Michel, Mrs. Arthur Dick, Mrs. Ray Harden, Mrs. Bruce Cochran, Mrs. Charles Fleming, Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Russell Beckett, Mrs. Georgia Dick, Mrs. Clarence Thomas, Mrs. Laura Henry, Mrs. Ned Long, Mrs. Clark McCafferty, Miss Sarah Grabbill, Mrs. Myron Hudson, Mrs. Guy Gulick, Mrs. Rachel Call, Mrs. George Kern, and Mrs. Beavers. After lunch they went on a walking tour and viewed the many lovely old homes.

Mr. and Mrs. Elbee Jones were hosts to the members of Monroe Township Advisory Council No. 10 when they met Wednesday evening for their October meeting. Mr. Jones opened the meeting and Dale Stubbs presented the topic, "Our Credit Problems" which was read and discussed. Mayoralty Races In Major Cities Hinge On Many Issues

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

Campaigns for city hall in nine major cities are being fought over issues as diverse as race, water, crime and snow.

Seemingly subsided is last summer's law-and-order monsoon that swept former policeman Charles Stenwig into Minneapolis City Hall, spurred Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty to come from behind to defeat a Negro opponent and made New York Mayor John V. Lindsay—for the time being, at least—an outcast in the New York City's Republican party.

Here is how the contests, all but two of them on Nov. 4, look now:

—In New York, Lindsay is running as an independent against two opponents who have attacked his record on welfare, crime, labor relations, and city services such as snow and garbage removal.

—In Detroit, still scarred by 1967 Negro riots, a white sheriff opposes a black county auditor, but both have pledged high-level campaigns avoiding race as an issue.

—Cleveland's Carl B. Stokes, who in 1967 became the first Negro to be elected mayor of a major U.S. city, faces a tough fight from an opponent who promises to cut the city payroll and spend the money on police.

—Pittsburgh Republican John K. Tabor opposes Councilman Peter F. Flaherty, a maverick Democrat who won in the May primary over the candidate of the party's organization, which has held sway in the city for more than a quarter century.

—In Atlanta, where Maynard Jackson has become the first Negro elected as the city's vice mayor, a liberal Democrat Sam Massell and a moderate Republican Rodney Cook are contending in the Oct. 21 runoff for mayor as a result of last Tuesday's election.

—In Houston's nonpartisan

Nov. 15 contest, Mayor Louie Welch is opposed for an unprecedented fourth term by four candidates, including the first Negro to run for the office.

—Buffalo's Democratic Mayor Frank A. Seda is running against Republican Councilwoman Mrs. Alfreda Slominski, known for her opposition to racial balancing in schools through busing, and Ambrose I. Lane, Negro former chief of the city's anti-poverty program who is running as an independent.

—In Seattle, Republican R. Mort Frayn and Democrat Wesley C. Uhlman, just beginning their campaigns, seem agreed in their support of Negro job demands, a crack-down on drug pushers and institution of a commuter tax.

—Campaigning has not yet begun in Miami, where a non-partisan election pits Mayor Stephen P. Clark against private investigator Ivan Nachman and William H. McMahon, a former city employee.

The law-and-order issue seems to have emerged most strongly in New York and Cleveland, and to a lesser extent, Detroit.

Both Lindsay's opponents, Democratic Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino and Republican State Senator John J. Marchi, promise vigorous law enforcement, but both deny that they are anti-Negro.

In Cleveland, Democrat Stokes is thought to have lost substantial white support, vital in a city only one-third Negro, after racial violence broke out in 1968. Police have accused him of giving them too little support.

Stokes' opponent, Republican County Auditor Ralph J. Perk, has called for "a crusade to lift our people from the fears which disturb them."

The Detroit Police Officers Association has endorsed Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs who rejects the "law and order" tag, saying he is for "firm, fair, just and humane" enforcement. His opponent, Richard Austin, accuses some of Gribbs' supporters of "subtle and latent suggestions that black people are identified with crime and whites with law and order."

Houston's Welch, a former auto parts dealer who was swept into office six years ago mainly on the strength of an unpopular water rate increase, has been criticized lately because of water rationing made necessary by a 40-day drought.

Charge Sergeant With Murder

GREAT FALLS, Mont. (AP) —Staff Sgt. Robert Rausch, 23, of Canton, Ohio, was charged Tuesday with the shooting death of Sgt. Dennis Anderson, 22, at Malmstrom Air Force Base.

Anderson's body was found early Sunday in a ditch near the base enlisted men's club. Cascade County authorities said

Useless Diagram

NEW DELHI (AP) — The Hindu, a daily newspaper published in tropical Madras where temperatures rarely fall below 70, ran a diagram showing motorists how to start their cars in case heavy snow should cause wet distributors.

Anderson had been shot to death.

Base officials declined to comment on details of the case.

Shoplifting Laws Go Into Effect; Penalties Stiffer

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — New shoplifting laws designed to give more power to stores and police go into effect Oct. 30, Atty. Gen. Paul Brown said today.

Statutes passed by the 108th General Assembly authorize including imprisonment of 1 - 7 years if merchandise valued at $60 or more is stolen.

A $300 fine and 90 days in jail is the maximum penalty for thefts of less than $60.

Store owners and employees, Brown reported, will be permitted to take into custody anyone suspected of theft. Police also may arrest without warrant anyone suspected of shoplifting.

Gunman Proves Weapon Loaded By Shooting Self

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — "I suppose you think I got no bullets in this," a gunman told patrons at Jack's Tavern. "I guess you think I won't shoot."

He promptly dispelled doubts on both counts by accidentally shooting himself in the leg, police said.

With that he fled Monday night with $400 and two bottles of whisky he had previously collected from patrons and bartender Roy F. Shoemaker, 42.

He was captured two blocks away, charged with armed robbery and taken to a police ward of a local hospital. He continued Tuesday to refuse to identify himself and was booked as "John Doe."

Mayoralty Races In Major Cities Hinge On Many Issues

By BROOKS JACKSON
Associated Press Writer

Campaigns for city hall in nine major cities are being fought over issues as diverse as race, water, crime and snow.

Seemingly subsided last summer's law-and-order monsoon that swept former policeman Charles Stenvig into Minneapolis City Hall, spurred Los Angeles Mayor Sam Yorty to come from behind to defeat a Negro opponent and made New York Mayor John V. Lindsay—for the time being, at least—an outcast in the New York City's Republican party.

Here is how the contests, all but two of them on Nov. 4, look now:

—In New York, Lindsay is running as an independent against two opponents who have attacked his record on welfare, crime, labor relations, and city services such as snow and garbage removal.

—In Detroit, still scarred by 1967 Negro riots, a white sheriff opposes a black county auditor, but both have pledged high-level campaigns avoiding race as an issue.

—Cleveland's Carl B. Stokes, who in 1967 became the first Negro to be elected mayor of a major U.S. city, faces a tough fight from an opponent who promises to cut the city payroll and spend the money on police.

—Pittsburgh Republican John K. Tabor opposes Councilman Peter F. Flaherty, a maverick Democrat who won in the May primary over the candidate of the party's organization, which has held sway in the city for more than a quarter century.

—In Atlanta, where Maynard Jackson has become the first Negro elected as the city's vice mayor, a liberal Democrat Sam Massell and a moderate Republican Rodney Cook are contending in the Oct. 21 runoff for mayor as a result of last Tuesday's election.

—In Houston's nonpartisan

Nov. 15 contest, Mayor Louie Welch is opposed for an unprecedented fourth term by four candidates, including the first Negro to run for the office.

—Buffalo's Democratic Mayor Frank A. Sedia is running against Republican Councilwoman Mrs. Alfreda Slominski, known for her opposition to racial balancing in schools through busing, and Ambrose I. Lane, Negro former chief of the city's anti-poverty program who is running as an independent.

—In Seattle, Republican R. Mort Frayn and Democrat Wesley C. Uhlman, just beginning their campaigns, seem agreed in their support of Negro job demands, a crack-down on drug pushers and institution of a commuter tax.

—Campaigning has not yet begun in Miami, where a non-partisan election pits Mayor Stephen P. Clark against private investigator Ivan Nachman and William H. McMahon, a former city employee.

The law-and-order issue seems to have emerged most strongly in New York and Cleveland, and to a lesser extent, Detroit.

Both Lindsay's opponents, Democratic Comptroller Mario A. Procaccino and Republican State Senator John J. Marchi, promise vigorous law enforcement, but both deny that they are anti-Negro.

In Cleveland, Democrat Stokes is thought to have lost substantial white support, vital in a city only one-third Negro, after racial violence broke out in 1968. Police have accused him of giving them too little support.

Stokes' opponent, Republican County Auditor Ralph J. Perk, has called for "a crusade to lift our people from the fears which disturb them."

The Detroit Police Officers Association has endorsed Sheriff Roman S. Gribbs who rejects the "law and order" tag, saying he is for "firm, fair, just and humane" enforcement. His opponent, Richard Austin, accuses some of Gribbs' supporters of "subtle and latent suggestions that black people are identified with crime and whites with law and order."

Houston's Welch, a former auto parts dealer who was swept into office six years ago mainly on the strength of an unpopular water rate increase, has been criticized lately because of water rationing made necessary by a 40-day drought.

How Weather Looks Today

OHIO WEATHER SUMMARY
COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Official Weather Bureau summary for Ohio:

Tuesday night was the coldest of the fall season so far and at 6 a. m. this morning temperatures over the state ranged from 28 to 42 degrees.

Although there will be a slight warming trend today and Wednesday, readings will drop again when another cold front moves through Ohio by Friday evening.

Scattered showers will develop over western Ohio Thursday night, preceding the front, and continue on Friday.

Tonight's lows again will be on the cool side, ranging from the upper 30s to the lower 40s.

FORECASTS

OHIO — Fair and quite cool again tonight. Lows from the upper 30s to the mid 40s. Increasing cloudiness and warmer Thursday.

NORTHWEST, NORTHEAST OHIO — Clear and not as cool tonight. Lows mostly in the lower 40s. Fair and warmer Thursday. Highs from the mid 60s to the lower 70s.

CENTRAL, SOUTHWEST OHIO — Clear and not as cool tonight. Lows in the lower 40s. Fair and warmer Thursday. Highs in the low to mid 70s.

OHIO FIVE-DAY FORECAST

Temperatures will average below normal Thursday through Monday. Highs will be in the middle 50s and lower 60s. Lows will be in the middle 30s and lower 40s. Warmer Thursday and Friday, but turning colder again over the weekend. Precipitation will total .5 to .75 inch or more as showers Friday and possibly again early next week.

Gen. Turner Faces Challenge Of Honesty

By G. DAVID WALLACE
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — The vowels come out as flat as the Oklahoma plains where he grew up.

Like the good soldier the Army proclaimed him to be when he retired, his answers to the United States senators ringing the bar above him are profusely littered with "Sir."

But the Army has changed its mind about how good a soldier retired Maj. Gen. Carl C. Turner was. It took back the Distinguished Service Medal it presented him at retirement last fall.

Now the senators are challenging Turner's truthfulness on how he obtained confiscated guns from civilian police. Although he signed receipts saying they were for Army use, he contends the civilian police knew he intended the guns for his own use.

Yet to come are questions concerning charges by his top deputy that Turner covered up an investigation of graft in Army servicemen's clubs.

So far, the lean and hard former military policeman has responded to all of the questions put to him. He has not tried to avoid answering by use of the

Keys Left In Cars May Be Removed

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Policemen in Ohio soon will be permitted to remove keys left in unlocked and unattended cars, according to Atty. Gen. Paul Brown.

Authority was granted in a new law passed by the 108th General Assembly. It goes into effect Oct. 30.

Fifth Amendment protection against self-incrimination.

The diminutive Turner, dressed in a single breasted blue suit with a red striped tie and red pocket handkerchief, sits without fidgeting at the witness table, his two attorneys at his side.

And when the questioning gets rough, as the voices in the packed, floodlighted chamber rise, the 56-year-old former paratrooper hammers the table with the bottom edge of his extended hand.

"That is my testimony," he asserted at one point in the hearings Monday. "And I say it before this committee. And may God be my judge. That is the truth."

Turner's background indicates he is not a man to take such an oath lightly.

He is an Episcopalian, a Mason, a Lion, a member of the national council of the Boy Scouts of America and president of the Pusan Children's Charity Hospital in Korea.

He has taught Sunday school and been an usher and lay reader at the church near his Springfield, Va., home.

Turner was born in Altus, Okla., and enlisted in the Oklahoma National Guard in 1930 at the age of 17. Five years later he joined the Army as a second lieutenant.

While in the reserves he graduated from Southwestern State Teachers College in Weatherford, Okla.

He spent three years of the war in Europe and earned the Bronze Star for gallantry in combat. It was about this time, according to Turner, that he became interested in guns as a collector.

He has also seen service in Korea.

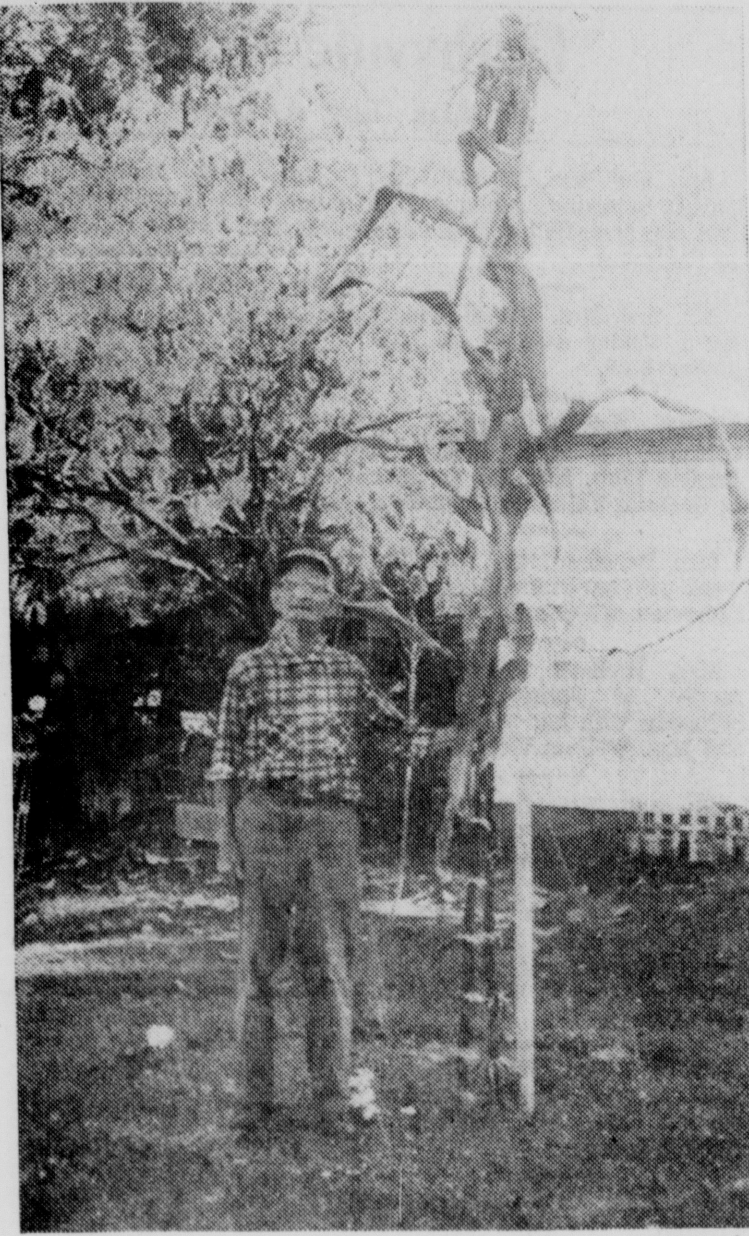

The height of Turner's military career was when he was appointed Army provost marshal general in 1964. He retired in 1968 to become chief U.S. marshal, then resigned under pressure after the Senate probe was under way.

Turner is married, the father of two children.

Turner was born in Albus, Okla., and enlisted in the Oklahoma National Guard in 1930 at the age of 17. Five years later he joined the Army as a second lieutenant.

While in the reserves he graduated from Southwestern State Teachers College in Weatherford, Okla.

He spent three years of the war in Europe and earned the Bronze Star for gallantry in combat. It was about this time, according to Turner, that he became interested in guns as a collector.

He has also seen service in Korea.

The height of Turner's military career was when he was appointed Army provost marshal general in 1964. He retired in 1968 to become chief U.S. marshal, then resigned under pressure after the Senate probe was under way.

Turner is married, the father of two children.

Men Surrender In Dayton; Wanted In Tennessee Death

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—"I believe the state patrol wants us," the young man told Glenda Ivy, who sat at her secretary's desk in the detective section of the police station.

It turned out that the man and his companion who voluntarily surrendered Tuesday were wanted for last Friday night's slaying of a constable on a lonely Tennessee road.

In custody were Joseph A. Lewis, 21, and Howard Meadows, 17, both of whom waived extradition and were awaiting the arrival today of Tennessee authorities.

In White County, Tennessee, Sheriff William Hickey said the two were charged with first-degree murder in the death of Constable Jerry Emerton, 28.

Emerton was shot to death on an isolated road in neighboring Putnam County when he attempted to question two persons he had stopped in a station wagon.

The constable's brother, Pandey Cherry Emerton, 31, said they had been chasing the green station wagon that was moving erratically down the road.

He said the station wagon stopped and as the constable stepped out of the car, he was shot immediately in the chest with a 30.06 rifle.

Hickey said the area was littered with empty rifle and shotgun shells.

The arrests came a few hours after police had staked out the home of relatives here. Police left the house, however, after it was learned the two were not inside.

Woman Is Slain; As Holdup 'Man'

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Authorities hoped to secure today positive identification of a woman, believed from Chicago, killed by police early Tuesday during a shootout in a carryout store.

Detectives tentatively identified the victim as Mildred Scofield, 29. They would not disclose a Chicago address until her identification was confirmed by police in the Illinois city.

Westfall's Mustangs will be at East Clinton Local Friday night for an encounter with the Astros. Teays Valley will host Franklin Heights and Logan Elm will be at home to Piketon to round out the action.

Teays Valley will be at home to Franklin Heights Friday night in a Metropolitan League battle.

The Falcons (3-3) are a strong club but have not come up to pre-season expectations. They are capable as proven by their victories over some good ball clubs this year.

Heights operates from an I formation and are directed by Al Norris at quarterback. Norris is a good thrower and a very strong runner.

Carmichael running from the tailback position gives the Falcons a sound running game.

"Our offense is still spotty," Viking coach Dick Kidwell stated, "but we are moving the ball. Stan Clay is a good leader," Kidwell said, "and we expect a big game from him this week. He formerly played for Franklin and will really be up for them."

Champ Henson, six foot four inch fullback, has recovered from his injury and will add strength to the Vikings' running game.

"We are satisfied with our defense," Kidwell offered, "and they are getting better every game."

Ed McCord, defensive safety, and Ron Crosby, fullback, both have bad knees and it is doubtful if either will see action.

Don Stier, the big tackle, has recovered from his knee injury and will start Friday night.

Teays Valley offensive unit will be: John Tucker and Jeff Helsar at the ends; Mike Mape and Don Stier, tackles; Chuck Frazier and Harry Meek, guards; Mike Schiff will be at center; Stan Clay, quarterback; Champ Henson, fullback; Bob Tucker, tailback; Dan Hicks, halfback.

Logan Elm Coach Mark Albright has been working on pass defense this week.

With quarterback Allen Crace doing the throwing, Piketon has been following the air routes about 90 per cent of the time this fall. The Braves' coach will be surprised if Piketon switches to a running game. It has not proven too successful for the Red Streaks this fall.

Pass defense has been a weak point in the Braves defense at times.

Wertie Teets, sophomore halfback who has scored the only touchdown for Logan Elm in six games, is expected to miss Friday's tilt. Teets sustained a mild concussion in the game against Unioto shortly after the second half began.

He has not been practicing with the Braves this week. The backfield for the game will find

Mets Rip Orioles, 5-0; Lead Series, 2-1

NEW YORK (AP) — Despite a suspicion to the contrary, the Baltimore Orioles continue to deny that the New York Mets and the man upstairs have formed some sort of strange alliance.

"You know what somebody told me?" coach Joe Pignatano asked with a laugh in the Mets dressing room after the club nicknamed the Amazings had been just that in a 5-0 victory over the Orioles Tuesday that gave them the lead in the World Series.

And then he answered his own question:

"God is a Met fan."

"We," added Manager Gil

Hodges, "certainly picked up some more non-believers with this one."

But they didn't pick up any of the Orioles.

"They're not super men," said outfielder Frank Robinson. "They're flesh and blood. The writers want to make it look like somebody's looking over them, but there's nothing to that."

"They tell me," said Manager Earl Weaver, "that man up there likes us all the same. Magic? They don't have any magic. They're just good."

"Heck, if Agee has an ingrown toe nail we got five runs."

Agee is Tommie Agee, the Mets center fielder. He didn't have an ingrown toe nail Tuesday, but he did have a leadoff homer that gave the Mets a lead they never relinquished and two spine-tingling catches that preserved the victory.

The catches and shutout pitching by Gary Gentry and Nolan Ryan pulled the Mets into a 2-1 lead after three games of the World Series and gave them a substantial edge the oddsmakers and experts never expected.

With two more games in New York, today and Thursday, and with their aces—Tom Seaver and Jerry Koosman—lined up to handle the pitching, they have put themselves in position to complete the miracle that has seen them move from ninth place last year to the top this season.

"Do we have our backs against the wall? No," said Robinson. "When they need only one more then we have our backs against the wall. They have only the advantage of being one-up just the same as when we won the first game."

"But it certainly gives them an edge. It was a pivotal game. They got by it. They're in good shape."

"It's only one win in the whole series," said Weaver. "The fourth win is the most important. If you get the fourth win it makes the other three important. If you win the fourth it wipes out all the losses."

"Who knows—it (Tuesday's victory) might not be important when it's all over."

When it's all over—no matter who wins—there are two things that happened in the third game that will never be wiped out—Agee's catches, already ranked among the best made in the entire history of the series along with those by Al Glavito and Sandy Amaro.

The first was made in the fourth inning with two men on when Agee chased a drive by Elie Hendricks to the wall in left center, spearing it one-handed in the web of his glove before grazing up against the wall.

The second was made in the seventh inning with the bases loaded when Agee had to go the other way into right center for a liner by Paul Blair, diving for it one-handed at the last second as the wind kept carrying the ball away from him.

Westfall Is Lone County '11' With Road Tilt Friday

Westfall's Mustangs will be at East Clinton Local Friday night for an encounter with the Astros. Teays Valley will host Franklin Heights and Logan Elm will be at home to Piketon to round out the action.

Teays Valley will be at home to Franklin Heights Friday night in a Metropolitan League battle.

The Falcons (3-3) are a strong club but have not come up to pre-season expectations. They are capable as proven by their victories over some good ball clubs this year.

Heights operates from an information and are directed by Al Norris at quarterback. Norris is a good thrower and a very strong runner.

Carmichael running from the tailback position gives the Falcons a sound running game.

"Our offense is still spotty," Viking coach Dick Kidwell stated, "but we are moving the ball. Stan Clay is a good leader," Kidwell said, "and we expect a big game from him this week. He formerly played for Franklin and will really be up for them."

Champ Henson, six foot four inch fullback, has recovered from his injury and will add strength to the Vikings' running game.

"We are satisfied with our defense," Kidwell offered, "and they are getting better every game."

Ed McCord, defensive safety, and Ron Crosby, fullback, both have bad knees and it is doubtful if either will see action.

Don Stur, the big tackle, has recovered from his knee injury and will start Friday night.

Teays Valley offensive unit will be: John Tucker and Jeff Helsar at the ends; Mike Mapes and Don Stur, tackles; Chuck Frazier and Harry Meek, guards; Mike Schiff will be at center; Stan Clay, quarterback; Champ Henson, fullback; Bob Tucker, tailback; Dan Hicks, halfback.

Logan Elm Coach Mark Albright has been working on pass defense this week.

With quarterback Allen Crace doing the throwing, Piketon has been following the air routes about 90 per cent of the time this fall. The Braves' coach will be surprised if Piketon switches to a running game. It has not proven too successful for the Red Streaks this fall.

Pass defense has been a weak point in the Braves defense at times.

Wertie Teets, sophomore halfback who has scored the only touchdown for Logan Elm in six games, is expected to miss Friday's tilt. Teets sustained a mild concussion in the game against Unioto shortly after the second half began.

He has not been practicing with the Braves this week. The backfield for the game will find Steve Curtis at quarterback, Bob McAfee at fullback and Jim Fox and John Weaver at the halfback slots.

In a reserve game at Unioto this week, halfbacks Don Dean and Dean Godden ran well and could provide help if needed.

The ends will be Byron Sykes and Dan Ankrom. At tackle Roger Evans and Jim Younklin will start, with Dale Valentine ready to fill in when needed. Guards are Ken Dean and Ralph Robey and the center is Mark Kempton. All of the linemen except Dean and Valentine are seniors. They are juniors.

On defense, Brad Barr, a sophomore and Sykes man the end positions. Evans and Younklin the tackle spots, Dean and Kempton the guard positions. Linebackers are Ankrom and Robey and the deep backs are Fox, Curtis and Weaver.

Westfall's Bill Vance is expected to meet a strong team in East Clinton. "They have a strong running attack and an impressive passing attack," Vance stated.

East Clinton is the only team that has scored against Paint Valley, ranked 10th in the state. Another loss by the Clinton County independent team this year was to Unioto, also a Scioto Valley Conference team.

"We will be going with some of the younger boys this week," said Vance in listing a few personnel changes. Terry Neff is tabbed for action at guard, Chuck Christopher will see action on the defensive unit at middle guard or tackle. Dave Eitel, a freshman will be running from a halfback slot. Tom Musselman will play at end.

The starting lineup this week will include two freshmen, two sophomores and two juniors according to Vance.

He plans nothing different as far as the Mustang offense is concerned. "We are just going to concentrate on doing what we do better," he noted.

Brown Says Turner May Be A Starter

CINCINNATI (AP) — Cincinnati Bengal Coach Paul Brown indicated Tuesday that running back Clem Turner, a product of the University of Cincinnati playing his first year with the American Football League team may be in the starting lineup against the Denver Broncos Sunday.

Brown said he was impressed with Turner's performance in the 21-7 losing effort against the New York Jets here Sunday.

Brown said he is thinking of alternating Turner, a rookie who did not play football last season, with Paul Robinson.

We've Got The Game, Mets Say

By DICK COUCH
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Tommie Agee's circus catches plucked the Baltimore Orioles' feathers in the third game of the World Series. Little Bud Harrelson has been picking their pockets from the start.

"We're playing our game now—good defense," said Harrelson, New York's sure-handed shortstop, after the Mets trimmed the Orioles 5-0 Tuesday for a 2-1 lead in the best-of-7 series.

Harrelson handled eight chances flawlessly as the Mets stymied Baltimore's big hitters again with solid defensive baseball. He personally disposed of the Orioles in the fifth inning by gobbling up three tricky ground balls and tossing out the side.

"They tell me that ties a World Series record... me and six million other guys," he joked.

"We didn't play our best in the first game," the 150 pound bantam continued. "We did in the second game and again today. Every time they got something started, we came up with the big plays and took them out of it."

"If Agee doesn't make the first catch they've got two runs.

against the wall? No," said Robinson. "When they need only one more then we have our backs against the wall. They have only the advantage of being one-up just the same as when we won the first game."

"But it certainly gives them an edge. It was a pivotal game. They got by it. They're in good shape."

"It's only one win in the whole series," said Weaver. "The fourth win is the most important. If you get the fourth win it makes the other three important. If you win the fourth it wipes out all the losses."

"Who knows—it (Tuesday's victory) might not be important when it's all over."

When it's all over—no matter who wins—there are two things that happened in the third game that will never be wiped out—Agee's catches, already ranked among the best made in the entire history of the series along with those by Al Glavito and Sandy Amaro.

The first was made in the fourth inning with two men on when Agee chased a drive by Elie Hendricks to the wall in left center, spearing it one-handed in the web of his glove before grazing up against the wall.

The second was made in the seventh inning with the bases loaded when Agee had to go the other way into right center for a liner by Paul Blair, diving for it one-handed at the last second as the wind kept carrying the ball away from him.

Orioles Aren't Swept Along By Mets 'Superman' Theory

By GORDON BEARD
Associated Press Sports Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — The Baltimore Orioles haven't been swept along by the emotional tide of enthusiasm shown by New York fans for their darling Mets.

The Orioles don't look on the Mets as a team of destiny, a bunch of supermen, or even a ball club with momentum.

But, unless they break out of a horrid hitting slump, the favored Orioles could lose the 1969 World Series. After dropping a 5-0 decision Tuesday, Baltimore fell behind 2-1 in the best-of-7 series.

"When I walk past them, I hear them breathing," Baltimore right fielder Frank Robinson said. "So I know they're human. When one of them takes off and flies, I'll believe that superman stuff."

"Team of destiny?" Baltimore Manager Earl Weaver said after Tuesday's game. "It wasn't destiny today. It was Agee's good legs and fielding ability. It was the good arms of Gentry and Ryan."

Tommie Agee, who belted a home run leading off the New York Mets first inning, made two spectacular catches in the outfield to prevent five Baltimore runs from scoring.

Rookie Gary Gentry, a winner in his first World Series start allowed Baltimore three singles in 6-2-3 innings, and Nolan Ryan yielded an infield single in relief the rest of the way.

The Orioles left 11 runners stranded, twice being retired with the bases loaded, as their team batting average for three games dipped to .133. They have made six singles in the last 22 innings.

The Mets, with only a .194 average, have made the most of their few hits and have come up with the big defensive plays to throttle Baltimore threat.

Agee snared a drive to deep left center by Elie Hendricks with two on and two out in the fourth inning Tuesday, and made a diving catch of Paul Blair's bases-loaded five with two outs in the seventh.

"Our players aren't down on themselves," Robinson said. "I can see that. They aren't hanging their heads, feeling sorry for themselves, cursing the other team and hollering 'lucky guys.' We're just giving credit to the Mets for good plays."

Jim Mandich

Top Lineman

By LARRY PALADINO
Associated Press Sports Writer
Preseason promotion billed Michigan tight end Jim Mandich as a prime All-American candidate.

Weakened by flu, the senior captain of the Wolverines played a poor opening game. The next week he got better and the week after that stayed about the same.

But last Saturday Mandich lived up to his billing when he caught 10 of Don Moorhead's passes for 156 yards and a touchdown as Michigan upset ninth-ranked Purdue 31-20.

He also set up two other touchdowns and a field goal with his sure-handed receiving, earning him Lineman of the Week honors from the Associated Press.

"It's a great honor," he said. "But most of my interest now lies with the team. We're well on our way to a Big Ten championship."

Those are confident words for a member of a team that has only played one Big Ten game this season. But the feeling at Ann Arbor is that the Purdue game could have been the biggest hurdle of the season towards a Rose Bowl trip.

"As far as pass receiving goes, I would have to say Saturday was my best game so far, although I have blocked better," Mandich said, admitting fine play and criticizing himself in the same breath.

Bat Boy Gives Inside Story Of Baltimore Orioles Stars

NEW YORK (AP) — Catcher Elrod Hendricks swings the heaviest bat in the Orioles' lineup, pitcher Mike Cuellar is the most superstitious and third baseman Brooks Robinson is the most finicky, says Baltimore's bat boy, Jay Mazzone.

Mazzone, 16-year-old Baltimore 10th-grader, figures he is custodian of 500 bats and handles between 100 and 120 in every game.

What's so special about that? Nothing, maybe, but—you see—Jay has no hands.

"It happened near Atlantic City, N.J.," the slender, dark-eyed youngster explained today.

"I was burning some stuff in the back yard and playing with a can of kerosene. I must have got some kerosene on my clothes. I caught fire."

"My mother tried to help me. Her dress caught on fire, too. Then a neighbor ran across the field and threw dirt on us and put out the fire. But, for me, it was too late."

Both of young Mazzone's hands were burned off at the wrists, leaving him two charred nubs. He also was burned around the face and on the body.

Nevertheless, four years ago, Jay won a bat-boy contest and became bat boy for the Orioles, who in that span now have won two American League titles and are shooting for their second World Series victory.

Shortly before the game starts, Jay dons metal claws which are strapped to his arms. He has become adept with his artificial equipment. He handles bats as easily as some might handle tooth-picks and can catch and throw balls with the best of them.

The Orioles all think he's great, and the feeling is reciprocated.

"They're all great fellows," says Jay. "I thought they might be stuffy and tough. But they're not at all. They treat me like a prince."

Mazzone is the son of a Maryland state policeman. He has two brothers and two sisters. He misses school sometimes but makes up the slack to maintain a B average.

Gordon Slade Named Back Of The Week

Associated Press Sports Writer
Gordon Slade will never make them forget basketball at hoop-crazy Davidson College but he's doing his best to erase the memory of a lot of losing football seasons.

Slade, a possible first-round pro football draft choice, passed Davidson to a 37-7 record of favored Richmond Saturday, completing 32 of 43 passes for 285 yards and two touchdowns while scoring three times himself.

For that performance he was named college Back of the Week by The Associated Press.

Fearless Forecaster Makes Picks

NEW YORK (AP) — The New York Mets and Baltimore Orioles aren't the only ones involved in important action this week. College football has some key games on tap Saturday.

For openers, there's third-ranked Southern California against No. 11 Notre Dame at South Bend, Ind. Then there's fifth-ranked Penn State at Syracuse, with the winner a good bet to capture the Lambert Trophy, emblematic of Eastern supremacy.

Seventh-ranked Tennessee and Alabama, No. 20, have a crucial Southeastern Conference clash at Birmingham, California faces eighth-ranked UCLA in Los Angeles with the loser becoming a Rose Bowl spectator and Michigan, ranked 1

(Amended Senate Joint Resolution No. 1)

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend section 1 of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to lower the voting age from twenty-one to nineteen years.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the State of Ohio in the manner prescribed by law, at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1969, a proposal to amend section 1 of Article V of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE V

Sec. 1. Every citizen of the United States, of the age of nineteen years, who shall have been a resident of the state one year next preceding the election, and of the county, township, or ward, in which he resides, shall have the qualifications of an elector, and be entitled to vote at all elections.

Every citizen of the United States being nineteen years of age who is not entitled to vote at all elections shall be entitled to vote for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States if he shall have been a resident of the state, county, township or ward in which he desires to vote such time as may be provided by law, provided that he is not entitled to vote for the choice of electors for President and Vice President of the United States in any other state.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

It adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1970, and existing section 1 of Article V of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

JOINT RESOLUTION

Proposing to amend Section 18 of Article III and Section 2 of Article XVII of the Constitution of the State of Ohio to provide for the elimination of the short term election of state officers to fill a vacancy, where the remainder of the term is less than one year.

Be it resolved by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, three-fifths of the members elected to each house concurring therein, that there shall be submitted to the electors of the state in the manner prescribed by law at the general election to be held on the first Tuesday after the first Monday in November, 1969, a proposal to amend Section 18 of Article III and Section 2 of Article XVII of the Constitution of Ohio to read as follows:

ARTICLE III-

Section 18. Should the office of Auditor of State, Treasurer of State, Secretary of State, or Attorney General become vacant for any of the causes specified in the fifteenth section of this article, the Governor shall fill the vacancy until the disability is removed, or a successor elected and qualified. Such successor shall be elected for the unexpired term of the vacant office at the first general election in an even numbered year that occurs more than forty days after the vacancy has occurred; provided, that when the unexpired term ends within one year immediately following the date of such general election, an election to fill such unexpired term shall not be held and the appointment shall be for such unexpired term.

ARTICLE XVII

Section 2. The term of the office of the Governor, Lieutenant Governor, Attorney General, Secretary of State, Treasurer of State and the Auditor of State shall be four years commencing on the second Monday of January, 1969. The Auditor of State shall hold his office for a term of two years from the second Monday of January, 1961 to the second Monday of January, 1963 and thereafter shall hold this office for a four year term. The term of office of judges of the Supreme Court and Courts of Appeals shall be such even number of years not less than six years as may be prescribed by the General Assembly; and that of the Judges of the Common Pleas Court six years and of the Judges of the Probate Court, six years, and that of other Judges shall be such even number of years not exceeding six years as may be prescribed by the General Assembly. The term of office of the Justices of Peace shall be such even number of years not exceeding four years, as may be prescribed by the General Assembly. The term of office of all elective county, township, and school officers shall be such even number of years not exceeding four years as may be prescribed.

And the General Assembly shall have power to so extend existing terms of office as to effect the purpose of Section 1 of this Article.

Any vacancy which may occur in any elective state office other than that of a member of the General Assembly or of Governor, shall be filled by appointment by the Governor until the disability is removed, or a successor elected and qualified. Such successor shall be elected for the unexpired term of the vacant office at the first general election in an even numbered year that occurs more than forty days after the vacancy has occurred; provided, that when the unexpired term ends within one year immediately following the date of such general election, an election to fill such unexpired term shall not be held and the appointment shall be for such unexpired term. All vacancies in the unexpired term shall be filled for the unexpired term in such manner as may be prescribed by this Constitution or by law.

EFFECTIVE DATE AND REPEAL

It adopted by a majority of the electors voting on this amendment, the amendment shall take effect January 1, 1970, and existing section 18 of Article III and Section 2 of Article XVII of the Constitution of Ohio shall be repealed from such effective date.

Shirley Temple Wants More Mature Image

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) Shirley Temple says she wants people to stop thinking of her as that cuddly little blonde who used to be in the movies.

"I am grateful for the good life I had as a child, but I want to live in the present," the former child actress, 41 and the mother of three, said in an interview Tuesday. Black, still dimpled, pleasantly plump and a member of the U.S. delegation to the U.N. General Assembly, Shirley said: "I hope that we will be able to introduce young people into the activities of the United Nations and its related agencies."

Crisp Cold Settles In Over Nation

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Crisp autumn weather settled over much of the nation today, but sections of the West warmed slightly after two days of winter-flavored cold.

Genuinely mild conditions were confined to coastal areas of the Carolinas and Georgia and the Florida peninsula.

Showers of snow or rain chilled an area from the Sierra Nevada of California to the northern and central Rockies. Travelers warnings were in effect in parts of the region, with indications of possibly heavy snow in some California mountain passes.

Even as temperatures moderated over the central Rockies, a fresh outbreak of cold weather crept into the north - central states and was expected to spread well into the plains and Midwest by Thursday.

Two inches of snow whitened Helena, Mont., and Evanston, Wyo., before dawnbreak. One inch fell at Craig, Colo.

Tropical storm Kara stalled in the Atlantic off Georgia late Tuesday, then began moving out to sea at 10 miles an hour. Forecasters had expected the storm to push ashore in the Carolinas. Temperatures before dawn ranged from 21 at Butte, Mont., to 76 at Key West, Fla.

Board Considers Immunization Laws

The Circleville Board of Education during the Tuesday evening regular session, aired new immunization legislation.

The recent passage of several bills by the Ohio Legislature which will affect present school policies were discussed.

Tuberculin testing, previously administered throughout the system, has now become mandatory. A schedule was set up with the assistance of Mrs. Charles Kirkpatrick, city health nurse, whereby students in kindergarten and grades 5, 6, 9 and 12 will be administered the tests annually. First graders who did not attend kindergarten will also be included in the program. Board members approved the suggested program.

A recent action of the legislature made immunization to rubella (old fashioned measles) effective Aug. 11, 1969. A bill requiring immunization for rubella (German measles) will become effective Nov. 6, therefore will not apply until the next school year. The policy is still under consideration.

THE board approved the formation of six junior high extra curricular activities with compensation of $100 to advisers. Hi-Y, SOS and GAA clubs were begun for eighth grade students. These students were previously included in combined eighth and ninth grade organizations. The split was advised because of increased enrollment.

Pilot programs of a newspaper staff and drama club were originated at the junior high last year. Due to their success they were recommended and approved on a permanent basis. These two groups plus a newly formed Science Club will serve both grades.

Selected advisers approved by the board were Durrell Young, Martha Warthen, Betty Weckerly, Thomas Azbell, Kester McCain and Boen Hallum.

Alan Shull was approved as adviser for the senior high Key Club. There was a change in staffing for the seventh and eighth grade football team. Dennis Stewart will be coach, with Terry Cordle assisting.

Non-certificated personnel accepted by the board included Jacqueline Jolliffe, Atwater and Nicholas Drive library aide; Virginia Smith, secretary to High School library; Wanda Matesky, school nurse and Barbara Frazier, nurses' office secretary.

Thirteen teachers aides were hired under the Title I program.

They are: Betty Liston, Jeanine Doering, Eleanor Stocklen, Bonnie Rector, Pat Knecht, Helen L. Burns, Gloria Simison, Virginia Jones, Marilyn Arledge, Marcella Shea, Mary Ann Hoffman, Ruth Rihl and Frances Elsea.

Aides employed under the general fund were: Mary Wickline, Carol Jacobs, Velma Walters, Nancy Happeney, Jo Ann Fox, Teresa Allen, Gardelia Roli and substitute Carolyn Doll.

Approval was given to the suggestion of the Class of 1970 that no commencement speaker be engaged for graduation ceremonies. The students wish to place more emphasis on the student speakers.

Also confirmed was the addition of 60 cents to the previous $22 daily fee submitted by John Robinson for the transportation of deaf students to Columbus. One girl was transferred to another school some distance from her original assignment requiring the use of the Columbus Transit System.

A SIDEWALK will be added to the South Court Elementary at its southernmost exit facing Court St. The board approved a bid of $337.50 from George Myers for a 90 foot walk, five feet in width.

An amendment to present Senate sick leave law was discussed. The new law would require an affidavit, or written document, to justify sick leave. The former 90 day sick leave allotment was expanded to 120 days by the bill.

Malpractice Suit Is Filed Against Dr. Sheppard

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A $750,000 malpractice suit, the third in Mahoning County Common Pleas Court involving Dr. Samuel H. Sheppard, was filed Tuesday by the father of an 11-year-old Girard boy.

Also named in the suit are Youngstown Osteopathic Hospital and Dr. William J. Lurie.

Robert J. Evans claimed in the suit that his son, James, fell and broke his right arm on Jan. 15, 1968. He said he took his son to Dr. Lurie, who sent him to the hospital where Dr. Sheppard operated on the boy and set his arm.

4 Persons Killed In Cleveland Fire

CLEVELAND, Ohio (AP)—Four persons, including 3-year-old twin boys, died in two fires on the East Side Tuesday. Daniel and Nathaniel Mason, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Nathaniel Mason, died in a fire at their home which caused an estimated $6,000 damage. Cause of the fire was not determined.

Mrs. Mason dropped her 10-month-old son, Santiago, from a second-story window to neighbors, but heat and smoke prevented her from reaching the twins, who were asleep in a third-floor bedroom.

Air Traffic Center May Be Picketed

OBERLIN, Ohio (AP)—The Oberlin Air Route Traffic Control Center could be shut down, grounding commercial air traffic throughout the eastern United States, if Oberlin College students carry out a threat to picket over alleged discrimination against a Negro cafeteria operator.

Frederick E. Owens, who has been operating the cafeteria at the center for the Federal Aviation Administration, said the FAA had canceled his contract without cause.

College students told Owens they would back him in his fight with the FAA by picketing the center today or Thursday.

H. M. Coyne, assistant chief controller at the center, said the FBI, Oberlin police, Lorain County sheriff's department and the Ohio Highway Patrol had been alerted.

He said the nearly 600 controllers who work at the center have been instructed to return home if they find that on reporting for work they are unable to get in without trouble with the pickets.

Coyne said the center will shut down if it does not have enough employees on duty to operate it and this would "seriously restrict" air traffic throughout the eastern United States.

Warrant Out For Sinatra

TRENTON, N.J. (AP)—An arrest warrant has been issued for Frank Sinatra, who failed to heed a subpoena to an investigation on organized crime. An aide to Sinatra said he was out of the country.

The warrant, enforceable only in New Jersey, was issued Tuesday at the request of the State Investigation Commission.

In Beverly Hills, Calif., a spokesman for the singer-actor said Tuesday. "Mr. Sinatra left New York City this morning for the Caribbean and at present is unaware of the situation. We are trying to locate him now and I am certain that when he is advised of the matter he will have some comment."

The SIC said Sinatra had been served with a subpoena June 25 in connection with an investigation of organized crime throughout the state. At that time, Sinatra was aboard his yacht off Highlands, N.J.

He was ordered to appear at a private hearing Aug. 19, but his Los Angeles attorney, Milton Rudin, obtained a month's delay.

The SIC said it had not heard from Rudin or Sinatra since, and Superior Court Judge Frank J. Kingfield issued the warrant, charging the entertainer with contempt.

If convicted, he would face up to six months in jail.

Sinatra is a native of Hoboken and has frequently visited the state.

He was forced to sell his interests in two Nevada resorts in 1963 when state officials charged that he had been host to a Chicago underworld figure.

$10 Million Suit Against Railroad Is Withdrawn

YOUNGSTOWN, Ohio (AP)—A $10 million suit filed last April against the Baltimore & Ohio Railroad and the American Association of Railroads has been withdrawn by the plaintiff.

Judge Sidney Rigelhaupt was about to open a hearing in Mahoning County Common Pleas Court Tuesday on a demurrer filed by the defendants when John Ruffalo, a Youngstown lawyer, walked into the courtroom and told the judge he was withdrawing his suit. He did not give a reason.

Ruffalo contended in his suit that the defendants helped bring about his disbarment from Ohio courts two years ago and denied him his "civil rights and liberties."

The defendants had asked for dismissal of the suit, claiming there was no cause of action.

Soviets Widen Space Spectacular

MOSCOW (AP)—The Soviet Union's biggest week in space got even bigger Tuesday with the opening of a new program of solar research, keyed to an unmanned satellite, while the three manned spaceships sent up earlier continued their troika flight.

The Soviets apparently are carrying out two unrelated space operations simultaneously, and one of them—the three-ship manned flight—is among the most complicated operations ever undertaken.

Tass, the Soviet news agency, said the group flight of Soyuz 6, Soyuz 7 and Soyuz 8 "continues successfully" and the seven cosmonauts "feel fine." There was also the usual report of morning exercises, medical checkup and checking of instruments.

The announcement said the day's schedule called for "observations of separate regions of the earth's surface in mountainous areas, to watch the distribution of cloud and vortex formations over the Pacific and Atlantic oceans, to explore the reflecting factor of tracts of forest and desert regions."

But once again there was no word on plans to link up and weld together at least two of the spacecraft, the exercise in construction of a space platform that is believed to be the chief purpose of the flight.

Tass in another report late Tuesday dubbed the Soyuz crews "cosmonaut-assemblymen" and stressed the importance of their space welding tasks, which it noted would be extremely difficult because weightlessness in space restricts even the simplest movements.

"The assembly of space constructions, their repair and other work will necessitate the joining of metals," Tass said. "To fulfill these jobs, the cosmonaut-assemblymen must stay outside the ship for long periods of time."

Tass said different welding methods will be used, including "electronic beam or plasma arc," which would give the space welders "the possibility of using a single instrument to both join metals and cut them."

Meanwhile, on Tuesday the Russians sent up a new unmanned satellite, Interkosmos 1, and said it would be used by radio observatories of East European Communist countries for a large-scale probe into the mysteries of the sun.

The satellite is named after a new body formed to coordinate space experiments of the Soviet Union and its European partners, the Council for International Cooperation in the Field of Exploring and Studying Outer Space, or Interkosmos.

Boris Petrov, a leading Russian scientist who heads the organization, said the mission of Interkosmos 1 was "to study the ultraviolet and roentgen radiations of the sun and their influence on processes taking part in the upper atmosphere."

Petrov said the satellite carried equipment made in East Germany, Russia and Czechoslovakia, and that observatories in Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia as well as the Soviet Union were taking part in the probe.

Intercosmos 1 was "to study the ultraviolet and roentgen radiations of the sun and their influence on processes taking part in the upper atmosphere."

Petrov said the satellite carried equipment made in East Germany, Russia and Czechoslovakia, and that observatories in Bulgaria, Hungary, East Germany, Poland, Romania and Czechoslovakia as well as the Soviet Union were taking part in the probe.

Plan Draws Little Praise

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—A $200-million pollution abatement program unveiled here by Cleveland officials has aroused little excitement among those who want the Lake Erie city to clean up its waters.

"I think we're talking about a lot of hope here without any assurance," said George Harlow of the U.S. Interior Department after the program was presented Tuesday to the State Water Pollution Control Board.

Harlow, added however, that he was not completely familiar with the plan, to be financed partly by a $100-million bond issue approved by Cleveland voters.

But when asked about Cleveland's schedule in meeting federal pollution deadlines, Harlow replied that "They are considerably behind — two years in some areas."

The Cleveland case was one of several, including those from a half-dozen or more smaller communities which were up for board hearings Tuesday. All were continued until later meetings.

FINISHING TOUCH — Clarence Radcliffe, director of the pumpkin and squash display on West Main St., puts the finishing touches on the "picher senter". The display is easily the most photographed part of the Pumpkin Show.

TASTER'S CHOICE — Ed Mason of Columbus had the tasty task of selecting a winner in the mini-pie contest of the Pumpkin Show early Wednesday morning. As he completed the judging, he affixed a note of comment on all entries and vocally exclaimed "the women of Pickaway County are fine bakers and I love to eat — anytime".
